

Karen Anne Quinlan
Hovers Near Death
After 2-Year Coma

MORRIS PLAINS, N.J. (AP) — Karen Anne Quinlan, whose two-year coma sparked nationwide debate over the right to die, is hovering closer to death 13 months after her life-supporting respirator was turned off under a court order.

Her parents, Joseph and Julia Quinlan, today kept vigil at her bedside at the Morris View Nursing Home.

The family priest, the Rev. Thomas Trapossa, said he administered the Roman Catholic last rites to Miss Quinlan Tuesday night, something he said he had done periodically during her illness.

"Karen is experiencing difficulties," Paul Armstrong, the family's spokesman and attorney, said Tuesday. But he refused to comment on reports that death was imminent. "We don't want the world to be at the bedside. We don't want this to turn into a macabre vigil," he said.

Armstrong said Miss Quinlan's condition began to deteriorate several days ago. He said the nursing home, which has no respirator, was following a philosophy of using no "heroic means" to save lives.

Doctors said Miss Quinlan now weighs only about 60 pounds. She is curled into a semi-fetal position and twitches occasionally from involuntary responses to light and noise. But doctors say that at no time has she been aware of people around her, including her parents who have made daily visits to the county nursing home.

Miss Quinlan, 23, lapsed into a coma on April 15, 1975, after consuming alcohol and tranquilizers at a party the night before. When she had failed to recover three months later, her parents asked a court for permission to disconnect her respirator so she could "die with dignity."

"I was the last to hold out," Joseph Quinlan, 52, said of the decision. "But after a lot of prayers I became convinced this is what God's will was, and that Karen was being called by Him."

Council Holds Hearing
About Federal Funds

A public hearing was held Tuesday prior to city council meeting concerning Federal Revenue Sharing Funds.

Proposed projects in 1977 for federal revenue funds included: Construction of the first phase of the city garage facility, $40,000; acquisition of new park land, $10,000; final payment to the Ohio Department of Transportation for the Nicholas Drive Project, $40,000; Engineering for reconstruction of Rosewood, $5,000.

Proposed projects for 1978 included: construction of the second phase of the city garage facility, $50,000; acquisition of new park land, $10,000; street program, $50,000.

City Solicitor John Adkins told council he could see the need for additional funds for his office because of the city's involvement in law suits and the increasing demands on the office.

In reports to council, councilman Steve Jones called attention to the condition of the east-west alley between Mound and Franklin Streets from Pickaway to Main. Jones said the alley carried a great deal of traffic and should be repaired.

Tom Wells, chairman of safety committee, reported the police and the owner of a West Main Street bar are cooperating in trying to control traffic through the rear door and noise at the rear of the establishment.

Service Director Atwood Jones announced the paving of Atwater Ave. has been completed, but the same day the job was finished a water main broke and the pavement had to be dug up to make the necessary repair.

Jones also reported that he is currently soliciting bids for a backhoe and that he has received word that work will begin on the new Kroger Store in two to three weeks. The store will be located across from the fairgrounds.

Bob Kramer of the Pickaway County Health Department reported on the mosquito control project.

Mayor Frank Barnhill announced the Labor Relations Bureau employed by the city is moving along with its job classification study. The mayor also reported that he would have the budget ready to present to council by its next meeting.

Councilman Dixie Watters, a member of the finance committee, suggested that department heads include an estimate of anticipated overtime pay in their budget requests.

A letter from the Junior Women's Club was accepted and placed on file. It was not read since each member of council had a copy and concerned the need for a new municipal court facility. Municipal Court Judge O. Charles Hosterman sent his budget for the 1978 year to all members of council.

A petition seeking three street lights on Edwards Road was read and referred to the service committee.

A resolution of approval requested by Circleville Improvement Committee concerning the request of Circle Plastics Inc. to borrow $1,040,000 to purchase a plant facility. The resolution was a formality not binding upon council in any way.

An ordinance authorizing the employment of civilian dispatchers for the police department was approved. The legislation would provide for four dispatchers. The city already employs two civilian dispatchers and would hire an additional fulltime dispatcher plus a parttime dispatcher.

Amin's Police
Rampaging
In Uganda?

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — An American reporter in Uganda says President Idi Amin told her by telephone he is honeymooning with his fifth wife two years after their marriage.

But the Kenyan news agency says Amin's police are on the rampage after an attempt to assassinate him, and hundreds of Ugandans are fleeing to Kenya.

Independent confirmation of the agency's report was not available.

Audrey June Taylor of New York radio station WWRL reported by telephone from Kampala, the Ugandan capital, that a government official there "put in a special telephone call to Amin" so she could check the reports of an attempt on his life.

"He told me he was alive and well and relaxing and vacationing on a belated honeymoon with his wife Sarah," said Mrs. Taylor, who had met Amin before.

"He did not tell me where he was, but a television newscast here Tuesday night said he addressed a refugee rally in the western province.

"The president told me that he is doing his best to stay out of the news. He didn't say exactly when he planned to return to Kampala although he said it could possibly be next week."

Amin married his fifth wife in August 1975. He announced 12 days ago that they were planning a delayed honeymoon.

Mrs. Taylor is one of a group of eight black Americans visiting Uganda at the invitation of the government to investigate ways of assisting the east African nation in the economic, educational and medical fields.

Showers and thunderstorms continued over various parts of the Great Plains and the middle and upper Mississippi Valley regions and in New England. A flash flood watch is posted in southwest Missouri. Heavy thunderstorms required flash flood warnings earlier in several central Missouri counties and until daylight in southeast Kansas. Flooding continued on several rivers in east central Kansas and south central Nebraska.

During the evening, tornadoes were reported 16 miles northwest of Vichy in central Missouri and six miles north of Muleshoe, Texas, which is near the southwest corner of the Texas Panhandle.

A few isolated thundershowers lingered in New Mexico, but most of the showers in western Washington state have ended. Much of the thundershower activity in Florida also has ended.

Skies were clear through the Great Lakes region and the middle Atlantic Coast states. Skies also were generally clear over the central Gulf Coast states and through the intermountain region and the California interior. Low cloudiness and some fog is found along the north Pacific coast and along parts of the California coast.

State Budget Calls
For $13 Billion Outlay

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State senators have approved the two-year state appropriations bill in a race to get it to the governor before the start of the new fiscal biennium July 1.

However, changes made by the Senate in the nearly $13 billion spending document sent it back to the House on Tuesday where a joint conference committee to work out differences was called a certainty. The House votes today on the amendments.

The Senate vote on the bill was 27-6, with six of the chamber's 12 Republicans breaking leadership ranks to support it.

Sen. Paul Pfeifer, R-26 Bucyrus, and other GOP lawmakers said generally that while they don't agree with some Democratic priorities, they do endorse the concept of spending within existing state revenues and not increasing taxes.

In separate action, the House approved 56-31, along strict party lines with Democrats prevailing, another component of the Democratic leadership's four-bill budget package.

It appropriates $1.54 billion for the highway safety and transportation departments. Rounding out the package are a legislative intent bill—passed by the Senate and pending in a House committee—and a capital improvements plan costing about $642 million.

The capital improvements plan is not a part of the package being rushed to meet the fiscal deadline, but is considered an important element in the state spending plan. It is awaiting its first hearing in the House Finance Committee.

The appropriations bill and other parts of the package, if finally enacted, would boost overall state spending for the 1977-1979 biennium to a record $15.1 billion, compared to about $12.2 billion this biennium.

Senate Finance Chairman Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, who presented the bill on the Senate floor, called the debate "the tamest since I have been here, because there is so much in it that is agreeable to almost everyone involved."

The key part of the bill is proposed spending from the state's general revenue fund, the receptacle for Ohioans' state tax dollars. It increases from $7.2 billion in the current biennium to $8.8 billion in the two-year period starting July 1.

Drafters distributed the increase of approximately 18 per cent in tax revenues across the board to education, welfare and other state services—with some getting hikes of 25 per cent or more and many others a budget increase of at least 10 per cent.

According to the Legislative Budget Office analysis of the bill, primary and secondary education receives $2.85 billion, for an increase of 29.3 per cent; higher education $1.27 billion, for a 14.4 per cent hike, and welfare, $2.71 billion, for a boost of 30.8 per cent.

These three items account for about 75 per cent of the state's general fund appropriations.

Senate amendments to the House version included the addition of about $103 million in spending, but only after the finance committee found some revenue sources it said had been overlooked in the lower chamber.

The bulk of the Senate additions—$58.2 million—went for basic education aid ($52 million), special education for handicapped pupils ($6.2 million), along with $30 million to boost welfare payments an average of about $12 a month.

Some of the other smaller additions by the Senate amounted to "pork barrel" for Democratic senators, charged Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, as the GOP amendments were being defeated.

Aronoff, who voted against the measure, also accused Democrats of using "tricks and gimmicks" in the budget to restrict the veto powers of GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Asserting that the budget represents "a school of tricks, some of them pretty cute," the Cincinnati lawmaker predicted some of the actions would be declared unconstitutional in the courts.

Among other things, Democratic drafters deleted subdivision totals from several departmental budgets, precluding Rhodes from using his line item veto to disallow individual spending items so that department heads could keep the funds involved to use at their discretion. In other words, Rhodes would have to veto an entire department outlay to reject one individual item.

Meshel conceded the device was put into the bill to keep Rhodes from letting his directors spend funds in ways not intended by the legislature. "We are perfecting legislative intent to the ultimate," he said.

The so-called legislative "intent" bill, fought by Republicans last week when approved by the Senate, also makes "illegal intrusions" into managerial functions of the executive branch, they claim.

To hike the House version of the main budget bill by more than $100 million, Senate Democrats utilized $43 million more in revenues they said will be realized from a new scheme for collections of the state income tax.

Under the plan, now a part of the bill, employers would have to turn employee deductions over to the state within three days after a fiscal quarter, instead of the 30 days now allowed. This was described as a one-time pickup of revenues.

In addition, the Senate said the House overlooked about $30 million in federal "antirecession" funds available to Ohio, and it reduced by about $30 million an estimated $95 million the House put aside as a surplus to help deal with Ohio's cash flow problems.

House Vote Curbs State Patrol

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $1.54 billion budget for the departments of transportation and highway safety has cleared the House, despite Republican warnings that it will hamstring the Ohio Highway Patrol.

The bill, considered separately from the state's $13 billion overall appropriations act, was sent to the Senate Tuesday where some GOP objections are expected to be remedied.

State senators called for a vote today on a bill that, if enacted, will almost certainly require extra dollars for the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, an arm of the Highway safety department.

It would change Ohio's twomonth license plate and validation sticker registration period to a 12-month staggered system and allow motorists to register their vehicles by mail for an added fee.

The budget controversy in the House revolved around a decision by majority Democrats to trim $7.2 million from Gov. James A. Rhodes request for highway safety. The transportation section of the bill, largely highway and gasoline tax money, was accepted by both sides.

But some Democrats oppose Gov. James A. Rhodes use of state troopers to investigate nonhighway matters, such as charges of criminal violations at mental institutions and fraudulent payment of worker's compensation payments.

Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, in an informal ruling, said highway safety money may not be used for these investigations and the House subsequently refused to provide general revenue funds.

"Do you want state police, or do you want a highway patrol," asked Rep. George D. Tablack, D-52 Campbell, who clearly wants the latter. "The Justice Department Overhaul Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell is considering abolishing most or all of the Justice Department agencies that pass out federal crimefighting money, investigate narcotics traffic and control immigration.

Bell wants to merge some of the essential work of these agencies into the department, transfer other functions elsewhere in government and do away with some jobs he considers unnecessary.

The attorney general discussed his reorganization plans in an interview with The Associated Press. Most of the steps he is considering would require legislation, and Bell said he has made no final decisions about the proposals he will send to Congress.

On other issues, the attorney general said:

—By Sept. 1, he will announce the first guidelines defining acceptable conditions in federal and state prisons and jails. It might take more federal money for states to improve their prisons.

—He thinks the FBI should have clear legislative authority to spy on domestic terrorist organizations when there is probable cause to believe they are about to commit a crime.

—In interviewing the five candidates for FBI director, he will look for a man strong enough to control the dominant personalities in the FBI hierarchy.

Discussing the reorganization plans, Bell said he wants to trim the department down to its "traditional mission" of investigating and prosecuting crime, representing the government in civil lawsuits and rendering legal opinions for the government.

Those functions are carried out by the department's legal divisions and by the FBI. But over the years, the department has acquired a variety of related agencies.

They include the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, which distributes federal crime-fighting money to state and local governments; the Drug Enforcement Administration, which investigates illegal drug trafficking, and the Immigration and Naturalization Service, which screens aliens seeking admission to the United States and tries to apprehend those entering illegally.

Suggesting that LEAA may be the first to get the ax, Bell said it is his "general thinking" that most of the agency should be abolished.

He said he is inclined to favor a system in which federal money would be dispensed to state and local governments through a special revenue-sharing program administered by the Treasury Department.

This would mean state and local governments would no longer have to submit detailed crime-fighting plans to get the federal money.

Bell on Monday received an FBI report discussing the ramifications of merging the drug agency into the FBI.

The merger would mean abolishing the DEA as it is now constituted.

Bell mentioned no specific reorganization proposals for the immigration service but said he doubts that many of its duties belong in the Justice Department.

—In interviewing the five candidates for FBI director, he will look for a man strong enough to control the dominant personalities in the FBI hierarchy.

Discussing the reorganization plans, Bell said he wants to trim the department down to its "traditional mission" of investigating and prosecuting crime, representing the government in civil lawsuits and rendering legal opinions for the government.

Those functions are carried out by the department's legal divisions and by the FBI. But over the years, the department has acquired a variety of related agencies.

They include the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, which distributes federal crime-fighting money to state and local governments; the Drug Enforcement Administration, which investigates illegal drug trafficking, and the Immigration and Naturalization Service, which screens aliens seeking admission to the United States and tries to apprehend those entering illegally.

Suggesting that LEAA may be the first to get the ax, Bell said it is his "general thinking" that most of the agency should be abolished.

He said he is inclined to favor a system in which federal money would be dispensed to state and local governments through a special revenue-sharing program administered by the Treasury Department.

This would mean state and local governments would no longer have to submit detailed crime-fighting plans to get the federal money.

Bell on Monday received an FBI report discussing the ramifications of merging the drug agency into the FBI.

The merger would mean abolishing the DEA as it is now constituted.

Bell mentioned no specific reorganization proposals for the immigration service but said he doubts that many of its duties belong in the Justice Department.

Market Report

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market was narrowly lower today after showing strong advances for the past two days.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, up more than 8 points since Monday, was down about a point shortly after the opening.

Losing issues outnumbered gainers by only a small fraction among stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said investors might be moving in for some profit taking after fairly strong advances in the past two days and a broad upward trend for more than 10 sessions.

Creditrith Finance, up 1/8 to 6, was the volume leader in early trading.

Other early prices included General Motors down 1/4 to 69 1/2; General Electric off 1/8 at 56 and U.S. Steel down 1/8 to 40 1/2.

On Tuesday, the Dow Jones industrial average gained 4.33 to 928.60.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about 3-to-2 in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board volume reached 29.73 million shares, against 22.96 million on Monday.

The NYSE's composite index gained .19 to 55.09.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .43 at 117.86.

Protest Strikes Hit Coal Fields

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least 13,000 miners in the nation's two largest coal-producing states are conducting wildcat strikes to protest health benefit cutbacks for members of the United Mine Workers.

In West Virginia, 10,000 miners were reported off the job, while in eastern Kentucky 3,000 to 4,000 miners were reported out, according to a spokesman for the Bituminous Coal Operator's Association.

Ironically, it is wildcat strikes which trustees of the UMW Health and Retirement Funds said Monday was responsible for the benefit cutbacks. The funds are financed by royalties from coal operators based on production and manhours worked.

Wildcat strikes since the last UMW contract was negotiated in 1974 have cost the funds $65 million in royalties, the trustees said.

Some UMW leaders expressed disapproval of this week's wildcats, saying they will only further hurt the funds.

"If the coal miner is going to strike over this issue, it's going to prolong the agony," said John Guzek, president of UMW District 6 in Ohio. Of the cutback announcement, Guzek said, "we can expect these things if we're going to wildcat all the time."

No wildcats have been reported in Ohio or Pennsylvania.

In District 20 in Alabama, most of the 17,000 UMW miners have been striking over a local issue. But with the benefit cutbacks, "I think it's highly improbable we will get anybody back to work," said Lloyd Baker, district president.

TREAT VICTIM — Members of the Circleville Emergency Medical Team treat Elizabeth J. Calton, 37, 8335 Tarlton Road, who was admitted to Berger Hospital for observation of back injuries and multiple contusions and abrasions following a 5:54 p.m. Tuesday accident on the Tarlton Road a half-mile east of Route 56. Pickaway County

Sheriff's Deputies Nick Franklin and Bill Carmean said Mrs. Calton's car was struck in the rear by a vehicle driven by Larry G. McNichols, 29, Route 1, Stoutsville. He was charged with failing to maintain assured clear distance ahead and having an expired operator's license.

Man Takes Bride's Maiden Name

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Barry Alan Beaver, a 21-year-old male nursing student, married Ellen Owens in a civil ceremony Tuesday and took his bride's name.

He said he did it because she is an only child and the last in her line of descendants.

The new Mr. Owens also transposed his first and middle names because he uses initials a lot in his training. "If I had left it Barry Owens, the initials would have been B.O., and I didn't care for that," he said.

AMA Kills Laetrile Proposal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The AMA has knocked down the recommendation of one of its committees that it advocate nonprescription sales of Laetrile.

"If (the public) perceives we have lowered our standards, then you may open the floodgates to quackery," said one doctor.

On Tuesday, the AMA committee backed nonprescription sales of Laetrile, the purported cancer cure made from apricot pits. The AMA has stated it believes the substance is worthless.

"We thought we were taking away the profit motive from the people who sell Laetrile," said Dr. Alfred Faber, the committee chairman.

But after about 40 minutes of debate, the AMA's 249-member House of Delegates defeated the measure by acclamation, on the grounds that such a tactic would neither discourage Laetrile use nor free doctors from being involved with the substance.

"The danger would be that the public would then understand that we had somehow lowered our standards on Laetrile," which could lead to quackery, argued Dr. Jack Schreiber of Ohio, adding that the misunderstanding would be fostered by "the lay press" and "headline writers."

Nancy Walker Back To 'Rhoda'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Nancy Walker, whose two situation comedies on ABC flopped this season, returns next season as the mother of CBS' "Rhoda".

Mrs. Walker played the role of Rhoda Morgenstern's mother, Ida, in the CBS show for two seasons before leaving it last spring to work for ABC.

Curio Dealer In Hot Water

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal judge has ordered a Chicago curio dealer to turn over $11,000 worth of whale and hippopotamus teeth, turtle shells and tusks from elephants and walrus.

The dealer, Donald Kostecki, 39, received a suspended two-year sentence Tuesday on charges of violating the Endangered Species Act. He pleaded guilty May 12 to receiving the animal parts through interstate commerce and selling them in violation of the act.

Kostecki was arrested Dec. 9 after he allegedly sold three sperm whale teeth to an undercover agent from the U.S. Customs Service. At that time he allegedly showed the agent 20 more of the teeth, most of which had been imported from Japan.

134 animals were abandoned in Pickaway County within the past two weeks.

17 animals were adopted from the animal shelter within the past two weeks.

Protest

Strikes Hit Coal Fields

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least 13,000 miners in the nation's two largest coal-producing states are conducting wildcat strikes to protest health benefit cutbacks for members of the United Mine Workers.

In West Virginia, 10,000 miners were reported off the job, while in eastern Kentucky 3,000 to 4,000 miners were reported out, according to a spokesman for the Bituminous Coal Operator's Association.

Ironically, it is wildcat strikes which trustees of the UMW Health and Retirement Funds said Monday was responsible for the benefit cutbacks. The funds are financed by royalties from coal operators based on production and manhours worked.

Wildcat strikes since the last UMW contract was negotiated in 1974 have cost the funds $65 million in royalties, the trustees said.

Some UMW leaders expressed disapproval of this week's wildcats, saying they will only further hurt the funds.

"If the coal miner is going to strike over this issue, it's going to prolong the agony," said John Guzek, president of UMW District 6 in Ohio. Of the cutback announcement, Guzek said, "we can expect these things if we're going to wildcat all the time."

No wildcats have been reported in Ohio or Pennsylvania.

In District 20 in Alabama, most of the 17,000 UMW miners have been striking over a local issue. But with the benefit cutbacks, "I think it's highly improbable we will get anybody back to work," said Lloyd Baker, district president.

TREAT VICTIM — Members of the Circleville Emergency Medical Team treat Elizabeth J. Calton, 37, 8335 Tarlton Road, who was admitted to Berger Hospital for observation of back injuries and multiple contusions and abrasions following a 5:54 p.m. Tuesday accident on the Tarlton Road a half-mile east of Route 56. Pickaway County

Sheriff's Deputies Nick Franklin and Bill Carmean said Mrs. Calton's car was struck in the rear by a vehicle driven by Larry G. McNichols, 29, Route 1, Stoutsville. He was charged with failing to maintain assured clear distance ahead and having an expired operator's license.

Man Takes Bride's Maiden Name

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Barry Alan Beaver, a 21-year-old male nursing student, married Ellen Owens in a civil ceremony Tuesday and took his bride's name.

He said he did it because she is an only child and the last in her line of descendants.

The new Mr. Owens also transposed his first and middle names because he uses initials a lot in his training. "If I had left it Barry Owens, the initials would have been B.O., and I didn't care for that," he said.

Set News Blackout On Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new staff chief of the House assassinations committee wants the panel to be left alone while it looks into the murders of President John F. Kennedy and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The committee hired former prosecutor G. Robert Blakey to lead its probe, and he announced a news blackout a short time after attending a meeting on Monday.

"The purpose of this news conference is to announce there will be no more news conferences," Blakey told reporters after the session. "I would hope you members of the press will leave us alone for awhile and allow us to do our work."

Asked whether the committee's work will be kept from the public for one or two years, Blakey replied: "I wouldn't think two years."

Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, committee chairman, said the panel approved a policy against any comment on either assassination inquiry until staff investigations are completed.

"It is the committee's intention at the proper stage of the investigation to make a public presentation of all the evidence which has been gathered, which has been corroborated and which we feel is credible and in no way defames any person," Stokes said.

Grange News

Members and guests of Star Grange enjoyed a bountiful picnic supper Tuesday evening in the Five Points United Methodist Church basement when they met for their June meeting. Worthy Master, Carroll Reid presided over the business session and heard the various reports.

A "Thank You" note was read from Otha Lewis for the flower and cards he received while he was in the hospital. Members of Star Grange plan to meet at the church on June 22 at 7:30 to make plans for their booth at the Fair, and it was announced that the Inspection will be held at the August meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Michel and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Beathard were present and received their 25 year pins and the lecturer, Helen Hammel read two poems appropriate for the occasion. The Pickaway County Grange Youth group under the direction of Ron Chesser presented a beautiful and inspiring program.

Moore Gets Brownie Points

WASHINGTON (AP) — Remember those stories about Frank Moore, the portly fellow from Georgia whom President Carter asked to watch over Congress?

Human Rights Declaration Set

ST. GEORGE'S, Grenada (AP) — A procedural victory for the United States at the Organization of American States meeting has improved prospects for adoption of an American resolution on human rights.

The OAS assembly on Monday adopted a resolution aimed at combating terrorism and rejected efforts by four military dictatorships to link it with the human rights resolution. U.S. officials said the separate passage of the terrorism measure, which was sponsored by the Dominican Republic, greatly improves chances the OAS will adopt the American resolution on human rights.

The military governments of Argentina, Chile, Uruguay and Paraguay wanted the two issues linked in a single document. The four argued that it is sometimes necessary to suspend human rights to combat terrorism.

LEGAL NOTICE NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING PLANNING AND ZONING COMMISSION

The Circleville Planning and Zoning Commission will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, June 28, 1977, at 8:00 P.M. in the Council Chambers at City Hall, Circleville, Ohio for the purpose of hearing comments on an application for a conditional Use Permit and on an application for a Variance in the following cases:

CASE CUP No. 4-77 — Request by Les Compton to construct one bedroom apartments on a tract of land on the west side of Pontious Lane between Lancaster Pike and Gale Court in an area zoned R-4.

CASE VAR No. 8-77 — Request by H. O. Clark of 218 Watt Street to vary the required side yard from 5 feet to 0 feet in an area zoned R-4.

Respectfully submitted,
W.F. Yamarick,
Chairman
Circleville Planning & Zoning Commission
June 22, 1977

reminding the President that it, too, can have a hand in running the Washington show, Frank Moore's popularity on Capitol Hill seems to be at its peak, even if Carter's isn't.

Every day, Moore or someone from his office is in touch with Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., or someone from Byrd's office. On the other side of Capitol Hill, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill's chief assistant, Gary Hymel, reports, "I talk to Frank every day."

That's a far cry from the reports that came out of the Capitol during the early days of the Carter administration and the transition period that preceded it. Nobody could quite figure out what Frank Moore was up to then.

He was inaccessible. He was ill-informed. Despite his position as head of Carter's congressional liaison office, he was hardly helping to smooth relations between veteran legislators and the new man in town.

The men and women on the Hill, through mutterings to reporters, didn't exactly hide their displeasure with Moore, while saying at the same time they were anxious to work closely with the new administration.

Now listen to what they are saying about Frank Moore:

"There's total communication back and forth between us," says Hymel, noting that Moore drives up to the Capitol for conferences with the House speaker and sends his deputies up, too, for conferences on specific pieces of legislation.

Last week, the meetings focused on the funding for water projects and the bill appropriating money for the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare, which cut out federal funding for abortions.

Moore was evidently well tuned in when the House voted against Carter on the water projects last week. When he told the President on the day of the vote that the administration would get 190 votes in the House, the President, expecting only about 140 votes, told him he was crazy. When the votes were counted, the administration had 194 votes.

The newer members of Congress don't necessarily have the same access to Moore that O'Neill appears to have, but one congressional aide says his boss and other young members of Congress have few complaints about the way Moore's shop operates.

The aide, who complained that the Ford administration gave him a runaround while he was looking for information about U.S. aid to Cambodia, said "we're getting straight answers now from the White House."

Moore Gets Brownie Points

WASHINGTON (AP) — Remember those stories about Frank Moore, the portly fellow from Georgia whom President Carter asked to watch over Congress?

He's the man who didn't return telephone calls from senior senators. He's the man who never told congressmen their pet water projects were on Carter's hit list.

Now, while Congress is busily

Human Rights Declaration Set

ST. GEORGE'S, Grenada (AP) — A procedural victory for the United States at the Organization of American States meeting has improved prospects for adoption of an American resolution on human rights.

The OAS assembly on Monday adopted a resolution aimed at combating terrorism and rejected efforts by four military dictatorships to link it with the human rights resolution. U.S. officials said the separate passage of the terrorism measure, which was sponsored by the Dominican Republic, greatly improves chances the OAS will adopt the American resolution on human rights.

The military governments of Argentina, Chile, Uruguay and Paraguay wanted the two issues linked in a single document. The four argued that it is sometimes necessary to suspend human rights to combat terrorism.

LEGAL NOTICE NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING PLANNING AND ZONING COMMISSION

The Circleville Planning and Zoning Commission will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, June 28, 1977, at 8:00 P.M. in the Council Chambers at City Hall, Circleville, Ohio for the purpose of hearing comments on an application for a conditional Use Permit and on an application for a Variance in the following cases:

CASE CUP No. 477 — Request by Les Compton to construct one bedroom apartments on a tract of land on the west side of Pontious Lane between Lancaster Pike and Gale Court in an area zoned R-4.

CASE VAR No. 577 — Request by H. O. Clark of 218 Watt Street to vary the required side yard from 5 feet to 0 feet in an area zoned R-4.

Respectfully submitted,
W.P. Yamarick,
Chairman
Circleville Planning & Zoning Commission
June 22, 1977

reminding the President that it, too, can have a hand in running the Washington show, Frank Moore's popularity in Capitol Hill seems to be at its peak, even if Carter's isn't.

Every day, Moore or someone from his office is in touch with Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., or someone from Byrd's office. On the other side of Capitol Hill, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill's chief assistant, Gary Hymel, reports, "I talk to Frank every day."

That's a far cry from the reports that came out of the Capitol during the early days of the Carter administration and the transition period that preceded it. Nobody could quite figure out what Frank Moore was up to then.

He was inaccessible. He was ill-informed. Despite his position as head of Carter's congressional liaison office, he was hardly helping to smooth relations between veteran legislators and the new man in town.

The men and women on the Hill, through mutterings to reporters, didn't exactly hide their displeasure with Moore, while saying at the same time they were anxious to work closely with the new administration.

Now listen to what they are saying about Frank Moore:

"There's total communication back and forth between us," says Hymel, noting that Moore drives up to the Capitol for conferences with the House speaker and sends his deputies up, too, for conferences on specific pieces of legislation.

Last week, the meetings focused on the funding for water projects and the bill appropriating money for the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare, which cut out federal funding for abortions.

Moore was evidently well tuned in when the House voted against Carter on the water projects last week. When he told the President on the day of the vote that the administration would get 190 votes in the House, the President, expecting only about 140 votes, told him he was crazy. When the votes were counted, the administration had 194 votes.

The newer members of Congress don't necessarily have the same access to Moore that O'Neill appears to have, but one congressional aide says his boss and other young members of Congress have few complaints about the way Moore's shop operates.

The aide, who complained that the Ford administration gave him a runaround while he was looking for information about U.S. aid to Cambodia, said "we're getting straight answers now from the White House."

Leisure-Time Working

Moonlighting formerly meant the engaging by night in an expedition or in an illicit action. Today it means someone who has a full-time job and takes another at night or on weekends.

This perhaps is a result not foreseen by those who urged a shorter week to provide more time for leisure and recreation. There are no figures on the number of extra hours worked by moonlighters, but if an extra job is to have any worthwhile pecuniary advantage it can scarcely be less than 15 hours a week. Added to a regulation work week, that brings total time worked to about 55 hours.

This is within whistling distance of the 60-hour week of our grandfathers which many have come to regard with horror as something akin to slavery.

Schooling Is Forever

By JIM BISHOP

Primary school education is close to becoming catastrophic. The school boards do not know. The teachers do not care. The parents, in many instances, are ignorant. The child often graduates with a third grade competence in reading and mathematics.

A school principal told 200 students that they could not be graduated unless they displayed a little competence in reading and mathematics. He was willing to settle for fifth-year work.

It is easy, I know, for the writer to sit in lofty judgment. Don't bug me with those letters because I've been writing about this every other year for 20 years.

Some teachers are dedicated. So are some parents. Some students are so well-motivated that they seldom fall lower than an A-minus. These are the exceptions, in recent years. A boy genius graduated from City College in New York at the age of 15. He was summa cum laude.

So what? He flunked in bowling. And there lies part of our problem. What has bowling or tossing Frisbees or girls' wrestling teams got to do with education?

Education is a carpentry of the mind. It is an edifice of information and logic. An educator once said, "Raising a child is very much like building a skyscraper. If the first few stories are slightly out of line, no one will notice. But when the building is 18 or 20 stories high, everyone will see that it tilts."

When our elementary schools fail the student, the child is not ready for high school. Often, the child fails the teacher. The parents betray both. In millions of homes, the voice of education is, "Do your homework!"

That isn't enough. The order sounds like a command. No one enjoys obeying a command. The youngster learns from unsympathetic parents that school is hateful. He despises schoolwork and books. At the end of each year, his teacher promotes him out of her way.

The system is cockeyed. A long time ago I listened to a Jesuit teacher explain that education is 70 per cent discipline, 30 per cent information. I became so angry that my fingers beat a tattoo on his chest.

Perhaps 30 per cent discipline, 70 per cent information. I recognized the importance of discipline. I tossed erasers at teachers and I dropped burned-out bulbs from the roof of the school.

Fortunately, I paid. The ruler was applied to the palm of the hand, unless I flinched. If I did, it was applied to the back of the hand, on edge.

There is no shortcut to understanding simple mathematics and reading. It is chronically painful. The first must be remembered, as in 7 times 9; the second moves from "Run Dick run, see Dick run" all the way to fine books which create visions and dreams.

Possibly one-third or more of college students are wasting their time. They have no goals and little aptitude. Those should be out working. But no student is so rich that he can afford to skip the first eight grades of schooling.

It is difficult to encourage a taste for mathematics unless the boy or girl feels a kinship for numbers. But it must be taught, at least to the stage of simple algebra.

Reading is another matter. Kelly and I made omnivorous readers of three out of four girls - the fourth devours love stories. We did it by discussing plots of books at dinner. We spoke slightly above their level of understanding, and left them dangling with half a story.

If they were interested, we said, read the whole book. We started all of them with Nancy Drew and Louisa May Alcott and allowed each to find her own level of understanding.

They were not allowed to look at television without giving equal time to reading books of their choice. For a time, I didn't care if they read trash, so long as they had their little noses in books.

An adult today stands little chance in life unless he understands mathematics and reading. We are crippling millions of little ones today because we are too busy to care.

Perhaps I shouldn't speak so loudly. Our third and fourth daughters are practically out of the school system. Both are studying for their master's degrees.

These days I do not become irritated when they do not read. What bugs me now is when they try to explain life to me...

Dear Editor:

To those of you that live in a radius of several miles of PPG Industries Inc. of Pickaway County and are affected by the odor and fumes that pollute the air, I share with you a letter of June 14 from Bill Miller, staff attorney, State of Ohio EPA:

"Your verified complaint of July 15, 1976, against PPG Industries Incorporated in Circleville has been investigated by the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency staff. We discovered that the company has taken a number of measures to attempt to abate the air pollution problem about which you complained. However, we have not heard from you or other residents from the area whether these measures have produced results satisfactory to you.

Therefore, I would like to request you inform me, at your convenience, whether you still wish to pursue the matter, or whether, on the other hand, the pollution has abated to your satisfaction.

I will look forward to hearing from you."

If you feel that the PPG Industries should be encouraged by the EPA to further improve the quality of the air we breathe, evaluate your own feelings as to the effect it has on you and your family, your activities, your quests, the value of your property and the knowledge that many valuable friends have moved from among us because of this pollution, then write to Mr. Ned E. Williams, Director, State of Ohio Environmental Protection Agency, Box 1049, 361 East Broad St., Columbus, Ohio 43216, Attention - Bill Miller, Staff Attorney.

Chrysler Corp. Eyes Air Rules

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has asked the U.S. District Court to halt federal action pending an interpretation of a state air quality regulation.

Chrysler, the city of Indianapolis and the Indiana Air Pollution Control Board claim the company has been operating within city and state Environmental Protection Agency standards at its Indianapolis electrical plant.

The federal EPA, however, has charged Chrysler with violating the state law on hydrocarbon emissions. Chrysler filed suit Monday to prevent the EPA from enforcing its interpretation of the law.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Our daughter was born with a birthmark on her face. She is now 2. The doctors call it a "port wine stain." There is no specialist in our small town who handles these things. Where can we go for help? We want to take care of this as soon as possible. We're very distressed. She's a pretty child except for this.

Mrs. F. B., Tex.

Dear Mrs. B.: "Port wine" stain and strawberry marks on the face are medically known as "nevi." I would like to clarify something immediately for you and other mothers who may have a sense of guilt about birthmarks, moles and discolorations that appear on their newborn children.

There are still some people who believe that there is some association with these marks and incidents during pregnancy. Some even believe that the mother might have prevented them. This is NOT so.

Now, what to do about them? A number of techniques have been devised. The size of the mark and its location determine the choice of treatment.

Extensive areas are sometimes replaced surgically with skin grafts. Tattooing the skin is another technique of value in small discolorations. Freezing the area with carbon dioxide snow is reserved for still other cases.

Ask your doctor where you can find such a specialist in a neighboring large city.

Then, the ideal time for the procedure can be determined. You are wise to seek special advice at this early stage so that your child can be spared any psychological disturbance associated with the birthmark.

And now, a special word of warning. Avoid the magazine advertisements which promise homemade cures. These can be hazardous and even interfere with any subsequent, reliable form of treatment.

My intestines go into spasm whenever I'm tense or upset at the office. Can X-rays show the change that happens to me at the time?

Miss V. S., Wash.

Dear Miss S.:

Emotional tension can duplicate almost every symptom in the body. Many people complain that they get a "knot" in the stomach when they are under severe stress.

X-rays of the intestinal tract would rule out any existing physical problem. Even spasm of the intestines would be visible, if those X-rays were taken at the time of greatest tension. In addition to X-rays, perhaps it would be wise to learn more about your psychological tension and try to eradicate them.

Mother Makes Mark In School

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP) — Returning to school and eventually earning degrees in psychology and management gave Bernadette Bennett, a divorced mother of eight, a feeling of "fantastic" satisfaction.

"It's part of knowing yourself and your full potential," said Mrs. Bennett, a dean's list graduate of Calumet College who was named to the 1976-77 edition of Who's Who Among Students at American Colleges and Universities. This fall she plans to attend law school, with hopes of being a prosecutor.

Seven of her eight children live with her. And the five boys and two girls, whose ages range from six to 17, were expected to handle the house work while she attended college full-time.

LAFF - A - DAY

"Do this — do that!" Sometimes I wonder why I dragged you into my cave in the first place."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Our daughter was born with a birthmark on her face. She is now 2. The doctors call it a "port wine stain." There is no specialist in our small town who handles these things. Where can we go for help? We want to take care of this as soon as possible. We're very distressed. She's a pretty child except for this.

Mrs. F. B., Tex.

Dear Mrs. B.:
"Port wine" stain and strawberry marks on the face are medically known as "nevi." I would like to clarify something immediately for you and other mothers who may have a sense of guilt about birthmarks, moles and discolorations that appear on their newborn children.

There are still some people who believe that there is some association with these marks and incidents during pregnancy. Some even believe that the mother might have prevented them. This is NOT so.

Now, what to do about them? A number of techniques have been devised. The size of the mark and its location determine the choice of treatment.

Extensive areas are sometimes replaced surgically with skin grafts. Tattooing the skin is another technique of value in small discolorations. Freezing the area with carbon dioxide snow is reserved for still other cases.

Ask your doctor where you can find such a specialist in a neighboring large city.

Then, the ideal time for the procedure can be determined. You are wise to seek that special advice at this early stage so that your child can be spared any psychological disturbance associated with the birthmark.

And now, a special word of warning. Avoid the magazine advertisements which promise homemade cures. These can be hazardous and even interfere with any subsequent, reliable form of treatment.

My intestines go into spasm whenever I'm tense or upset at the office. Can X-rays show the change that happens to me at the time?

Miss V. S., Wash.

Dear Miss S.:

Emotional tension can duplicate almost every symptom in the body. Many people complain that they get a "knot" in the stomach when they are under severe stress.

X-rays of the intestinal tract would rule out any existing physical problem. Even spasm of the intestines would be visible, if those X-rays were taken at the time of greatest tension. In addition to X-rays, perhaps it would be wise to learn more about your psychological tension and try to eradicate them.

Mother Makes Mark In School

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP) — Returning to school and eventually earning degrees in psychology and management gave Bernadette Bennett, a divorced mother of eight, a feeling of "fantastic" satisfaction.

"It's part of knowing yourself and your full potential," said Mrs. Bennett, a dean's list graduate of Calumet College who was named to the 1976-77 edition of Who's Who Among Students at American Colleges and Universities. This fall she plans to attend law school, with hopes of being a prosecutor.

Seven of her eight children live with her. And the five boys and two girls, whose ages range from six to 17, were expected to handle the house work while she attended college full-time.

New Israeli Chief Faces Stiff Fight

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The Labor party retained control of Israel's powerful Histadrut labor federation today and vowed to fight conservative Prime Minister Menahem Begin's capitalist policies with strikes and the federation's considerable economic muscle.

Projections based on a third of the votes cast Tuesday in the federation's election of delegates to its ruling convention indicated Labor supporters would win 52 per cent of the 1,501 seats, supporters of Begin's Likud bloc would get 30 per cent, the new Democratic Movement for Change would get 7-8

Group Fights KSU Gym Construction

CINCINNATI (AP) — The families of students killed or wounded in the May 4, 1970 shootings at Kent State University are publicly backing current efforts to stop construction of a gym near the site of the confrontation.

Albert Canfora of Barberton, Ohio, speaking for the 13 families Tuesday, vowed to do "anything necessary" to preserve the site for history and as evidence for continuing litigation.

Student demonstrators have been living in about 40 tents on the site where Ohio National Guard troops opened fire on the anti-Vietnam war protestors since the seventh anniversary of the shootings last month.

The families rallied in a hotel Tuesday following an appearance in the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, demanded that the site be "preserved permanently for both legal and historical value."

The families were here for the opening of oral arguments in their appeal of a 1975 U.S. District Court jury verdict absolving the governor of Ohio, the university president and the head of the Ohio National Guard of liability in the shootings.

"It is sacred ground. We want to keep it as a monument," said Floyd Stamps, South Euclid, Ohio, whose son Robert was one of nine wounded in the incident. Four were killed.

"I believe the site was chosen for a purpose and it is one of the worst possible sites anyway," said Stamps. "There are plenty of better sites for it."

Thieves Take Tool Sets

The Circleville Police Department is today investigating a report of stolen property at the Leo K. Zwyer residence, 629 Mower Road.

According to the report, Mr. Zwyer told police Ptl. Don Barton that sometime between 7:30 p.m. Tuesday night and 7 a.m. this morning, culprits took several tools from his truck, which was parked at his residence.

Among the missing items are two socket sets, two sets of drill bits, two sets of Allen wrenches, and an electric drill. The value of the stolen items was set at approximately $314.

Marshall Unveils Black Portraits

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — U.S. Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall was in the Maryland state capital to unveil portraits of himself and two noted black Marylanders of the past.

While here Tuesday, Marshall assessed the progress of blacks in America and concluded "we have not yet reached the point where we can sit down and look back."

Even in 1977, said the first and only black U.S. Supreme Court justice, there is no place in the country "where I have to put my hand up in front of my face to know that I'm a Negro."

The portraits of Marshall; Benjamin Banneker, a self-educated scientist who helped lay out the District of Columbia; and Frederick Douglass, a slave who became a publisher and diplomat, will hang in a new museum of black history and culture at the Old Mt. Moriah Church in Annapolis.

Australian Leader Meets With Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Australian Prime Minister Malcolm Fraser is meeting with President Carter and other senior administration officials for talks expected to touch on efforts to restrain the spread of nuclear weapons.

Fraser, a key backer of Carter administration efforts to slow the weapons spread, arrived here Tuesday night on a two-day official visit.

Billy Carter Finally Wins Post

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Billy Carter, whose older brother has demonstrated a certain political knack, has finally been elected to office.

But there was little speculation about the birth of a political dynasty as the two-time loser for mayor of Plains presided over a meeting of the newly formed Plains Merchants Association on Tuesday night.

"This is the first time I've been elected to any damn thing," Carter remarked at the meeting, called to discuss the economic future of this southwest Georgia town.

He was scheduled to hold a breakfast session today with Defense Secretary Harold Brown before meeting with Carter's top energy adviser, James R. Schlesinger, and then the President.

Normal protocol calls for the first meeting of a foreign head of government to be with the President, but scheduling difficulties prompted Fraser to arrange his talks at the White House after the earlier meetings.

Fraser leads a country which has some 20 per cent of the non-communist world's known uranium supply. American officials say they are pleased at Fraser's insistence on maximum safeguards should his country become a major uranium exporter.

Carter and Fraser are said to be virtually in complete agreement on both the opportunities and the dangers, inherent in nuclear power development.

The Carter policy acknowledges the need for an expansion of nuclear power facilities provided there are adequate protections against diversion of spent fuels to nuclear weapons production.

Fraser's visit here coincides with the opening of talks in Moscow on an issue of major importance to Australia, Carter's proposal for the complete demilitarization of the Indian Ocean.

The Fraser government has been concerned about Soviet military activities in that area and has supported U.S. expansion of naval facilities on Diego Garcia Island.

Officials said it was likely that Fraser would seek expanded beef exports to the United States but that any change from present arrangements is unlikely.

Under a system of voluntary restraints, Australia provides the United States with about 52 per cent of its beef imports and 10 or so other countries share the remainder.

TV Personalities To Be Married

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Pop-country singer Kenny Rogers and Mary Ann Gordon of the "Hee Haw" TV show plan to be married.

SUNDIAL IS DEDICATED — The Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club has completed the latest of its community projects. The sundial and shoppers bench, located at the court house on space donated through the cooperation of the county commissioners, was dedicated to the club's charter members four of whom are still living. Two live in Circleville, Miss Mary Howard and Mrs. Esther Work, and two are currently living in Columbus, Mrs. Anna Chandler and Miss Marguerite Clark. Pictured are from the left sitting Mrs. Esther Work, and Miss Mary Howard, both of whom are charter members of BPW, standing is Dr. Nancy L. Conrad, project chairman and Mrs. Louise Hill, club president. The bench and sundial was erected by Mr. Harold Hill, with materials being contributed by Mr. Perry Schockley.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

She's Second To CB And Calling '10-33'

DEAR ABBY: Whoever invented the CB radio sure invented a road monster. My husband, a once law-abiding citizen, now gets into his car, turns on his CB and starts looking around for other CB antennas. He then identifies the color and make of the car and asks if they have their "ears" on.

Next he gets a "front door man" and a "back door man" so he can excess the speed limit without getting caught by a "Smokey" or "bubble gum machine" (police).

Meanwhile, everybody else with a CB is speeding, looking for road buddies and driving with one hand on the wheel and the other holding a speaker. By the time we've reached our destination I'm exhausted.

We just returned from one of those "fun" weekends, and I am ready for a straitjacket. Four hours over and four hours back with breakers 1 to 9, and that's it for me.

Before my husband got a CB we enjoyed a leisurely drive listening to soothing FM music. No more!

Next time I'll stay home. My handle?

STEAMED BEAVER

DEAR BEAVER: Don't sell the CB's short. When you need help on the road you might have a long wait before a Tijuana Taxie (sheriff) or Smokey (police) happen by, but those guys in the 18 wheelers (Big trucks and trailers) are great in a 10-33 (emergency) situation.

DEAR ABBY: Please settle a debate between my gentleman friend and me. I just turned 28, at which time Jim informed me that I am now an "old maid."

Jim's definition of an old maid is any women who is 28 and single, regardless of whether she has been previously married.

My definition of an old maid is a women who is 30 and has never been married.

Which of us comes closer to your definition?

I am a divorcee, so even though I am unmarried at age 28, I do not consider myself an old maid.

Answer in the paper. The loser owes the winner a dinner.

LINDA

DEAR LINDA: Jim owes you a dinner. (P.S. The term "old maid" went out with the buttonhook. I prefer "unclaimed jewel.")

DEAR ABBY: You said that most handwritten do-it-yourself wills aren't worth the paper they're written on.

As a lawyer I must inform you that this is probably true in many instances, but a will that is written, dated and signed in the hand of the testator can be written on toilet paper, and it's as valid as one drawn up by an attorney. Furthermore, in California a holograph (hand-written will) is simpler to execute because no witnesses are required.

CALIFORNIA LAWYER

DEAR LAWYER: Judging from my mail, a lot of lawyers read my column. I still say in matters having to do with law, it's cheaper and wiser in the long run to seek advice from a lawyer.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope please.

Wedding Plans Finalized

Wedding plans have been finalized for the 4:30 p.m., June 25 open church wedding ceremony of Miss Cynthia Corne and Mr. Bruce Rickerd.

The ceremony will take place in the Jefferson Church of Christ in Christian Union with the Rev. Roy Heimback officiating.

Legion Auxiliary Visits VA Hospital

The American Legion Auxiliary visited Ward 1-C of the Veterans Administration Hospital, Chillicothe recently.

Games and visiting with the 25 patients was the entertainment for the evening.

Refreshments were served by VA&R chairman, Mary Stephens, assisted by Maggie Mavis, Roseann Stinson, Lola McClarren, Jo Hunter, Cleo Caudill Norma Layton, William McClarren, Hall-Adkins Post 134 and Mrs. Harry Walsh, Chillicothe.

Ditty bags, magazines, and paper back novels were delivered to Voluntary Services for distribution.

Food For Thought

Cooking Is The In Thing

FRESH BLUEBERRY COBBLER

Equipment: colander or strainer; medium-sized saucepan; measuring cups and spoons; baking dish (9 x 9); medium-sized mixing bowl; fork; two dinner knives or a pastry blender; pot holders; hot mat or wire rack.

Ingredients:

1 pint blueberries
1/4 cup water
3/4 cup granulated white or raw sugar
1 cup whole wheat flour
3/4 cup brown sugar, loosely packed
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
Pinch of nutmeg
1-3rd cup butter or margarine
Turn on the oven and let it heat to 350 degrees.

Wash the blueberries in a colander or strainer and pick out any stems and leaves. Put the fruit, water and white or raw sugar in a saucepan and bring to a boil stirring so sugar does not burn. Simmer for two minutes. Pour the slightly cooked fruit into the baking dish.

In the mixing bowl put the flour, brown sugar, salt, baking powder and nutmeg and mix them thoroughly with a fork.

Add the butter or margarine, cut into small pieces. Use a pastry blender, or use two knives, one in each hand, and cut the butter or margarine into the flour mixture until it forms crumbs about the size of peas.

Sprinkle the crumbs over the berries. Bake for 25 minutes, or until the crumbs are light brown. Use the pot holders to remove the baking dish from the oven. Set the dish on a hot mat or wire rack to cool slightly.

Serve with plain or whipped cream or vanilla ice cream.

Serves 4 to 6.

Logan Elm Garden Club Plans Summer Activities

The June meeting of the Logan Elm Garden Club was held in the home of Mrs. Gordon Worthen, with 14 members and one guest present.

A letter was read from Nadine Elder asking club members to participate in the August 24 flower show being held at the Oberlin College South Hall lobby.

Members were invited to visit the homes of Mrs. Karl Seyfarth, Mrs. Calvin Danford and Mrs. Measamer during the flower show sponsored by the Pickaway Garden Club July 8.

The chance prize brought by Mrs. Frank Graves was won by Mrs. Pryor Harbourn.

A tour of the Harford Renick flower gardens will be held on July 20.

Wax beans are delicious when they are sauced with a mixture of thin strips of onion (softened in butter) and sour cream.

MONDAY

Pickaway County Women's Republican Club, 12 noon at the Pickaway Arms.

In an effort to keep society news current, The Herald has established the following policy concerning wedding news:

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

If you haven't yet tried the Italian way of seasoning spinach, do try it! Cook fresh spinach and add olive oil, raisins and pine nuts.

Add lots of basil — preferably fresh — to an oil and vinegar dressing and pour over sliced tomatoes.

SUNDIAL IS DEDICATED — The Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club has completed the latest of its community projects. The sundial and shoppers bench, located at the court house on space donated through the cooperation of the county commissioners, was dedicated to the club's charter members four of whom are still living. Two live in Circleville, Miss Mary Howard and Mrs. Esther Work, and two are currently living in Columbus, Mrs. Anna Chandler and Miss Marguerite Clark. Pictured are from the left sitting Mrs. Esther Work, and Miss Mary Howard, both of whom are charter members of BPW, standing is Dr. Nancy L. Conrad, project chairman and Mrs. Louise Hill, club president. The bench and sundial was erected by Mr. Harold Hill, with materials being contributed by Mr. Perry Schockley.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

She's Second To CB And Calling '10-33'

DEAR ABBY: Whoever invented the CB radio sure invented a road monster. My husband, a once law-abiding citizen, now gets into his car, turns on his CB and starts looking around for other CB antennas. He then identifies the color and make of the car and asks if they have their "ears" on.

Next he gets a "front door man" and a "back door man" so he can excess the speed limit without getting caught by a "Smokey" or "bubble gum machine" (police).

Meanwhile, everybody else with a CB is speeding, looking for road buddies and driving with one hand on the wheel and the other holding a speaker. By the time we've reached our destination I'm exhausted.

We just returned from one of those "fun" weekends, and I am ready for a straitjacket. Four hours over and four hours back with breakers 1 to 9, and that's it for me.

Before my husband got a CB we enjoyed a leisurely drive listening to soothing FM music. No more!

Next time I'll stay home. My handle?

STEAMED BEAVER

DEAR BEAVER: Don't sell the CB's short. When you need help on the road you might have a long wait before a Tijuana Taxie (sheriff) or Smokey (police) happen by, but those guys in the 18 wheelers (Big trucks and trailers) are great in a 10-33 (emergency) situation.

DEAR ABBY: Please settle a debate between my gentleman friend and me. I just turned 28, at which time Jim informed me that I am now an "old maid."

Jim's definition of an old maid is any woman who is 28 and single, regardless of whether she has been previously married.

My definition of an old maid is a

women who is 30 and has never been married.

Which of us comes closer to your definition?

I am a divorcee, so even though I am unmarried at age 28, I do not consider myself an old maid.

Answer in the paper. The loser owes the winner a dinner.

LINDA

DEAR LINDA: Jim owes you a dinner. (P.S. The term "old maid" went out with the buttonhook. I prefer "unclaimed jewel.")

DEAR ABBY: You said that most handwritten do-it-yourself wills aren't worth the paper they're written on.

As a lawyer I must inform you that this is probably true in many instances, but a will that is written, dated and signed in the hand of the testator can be written on toilet paper, and it's as valid as one drawn up by an attorney. Furthermore, in California a holograph (hand-written will) is simpler to execute because no witnesses are required.

CALIFORNIA LAWYER

DEAR LAWYER: Judging from my mail, a lot of lawyers read my column. I still say in matters having to do with law, it's cheaper and wiser in the long run to seek advice from a lawyer.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope please.

Wedding Plans Finalized

Wedding plans have been finalized for the 4:30 p.m., June 25 open church wedding ceremony of Miss Cynthia Come and Mr. Bruce Rickard.

The ceremony will take place in the Jefferson Church of Christ in Christian Union with the Rev. Roy Heimbach officiating.

Legion Auxiliary Visits VA Hospital

The American Legion Auxiliary visited Ward 1-C of the Veterans Administration Hospital, Chillicothe recently.

Games and visiting with the 25 patients was the entertainment for the evening.

Refreshments were served by VA&R chairman, Mary Stephens, assisted by Maggie Mavis, Roseann Stinson, Lola McClarren, Jo Hunter, Cleo Caudill Norma Layton, William McClarren, Hall-Adkins Post 134 and Mrs. Harry Walsh, Chillicothe.

Ditty bags, magazines, and paper back novels were delivered to Voluntary Services for distribution.

Food For Thought

Cooking Is The In Thing

FRESH BLUEBERRY COBBLER

Equipment: colander or strainer; medium-sized saucepan; measuring cups and spoons; baking dish (9 x 9); medium-sized mixing bowl; fork; two dinner knives or a pastry blender; pot holders; hot mat or wire rack.

Ingredients:

1 pint blueberries
1/4 cup water
3/4 cup granulated white or raw sugar
1 cup whole wheat flour
3/4 cup brown sugar, loosely packed
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
Pinch of nutmeg
1-3rd cup butter or margarine
Turn on the oven and let it heat to 350 degrees.

Wash the blueberries in a colander or strainer and pick out any stems and leaves. Put the fruit, water and white or raw sugar in a saucepan and bring to a boil stirring so sugar does not burn. Simmer for two minutes. Pour the slightly cooked fruit into the baking dish.

In the mixing bowl put the flour, brown sugar, salt, baking powder and nutmeg and mix them thoroughly with a fork.

Add the butter or margarine, cut into small pieces. Use a pastry blender, or use two knives, one in each hand, and cut the butter or margarine into the flour mixture until it forms crumbs about the size of peas.

Sprinkle the crumbs over the berries. Bake for 25 minutes, or until the crumbs are light brown. Use the pot holders to remove the baking dish from the oven. Set the dish on a hot mat or wire rack to cool slightly.

Serve with plain or whipped cream or vanilla ice cream.

Serves 4 to 6.

Logan Elm Garden Club Plans Summer Activities

The June meeting of the Logan Elm Garden Club was held in the home of Mrs. Gordon Worthen, with 14 members and one guest present.

A letter was read from Nadine Elder asking club members to participate in the August 2-4 flower show being held at the Oberlin College South Hall lobby.

Members were invited to visit the homes of Mrs. Karl Seyfarth, Mrs. Calvin Danford and Mrs. Measamer during the flower show sponsored by the Pickaway Garden Club July 8.

The chance prize brought by Mrs. Frank Graves was won by Mrs. Pryor Harmount.

A tour of the Harford Renick flower gardens will be held on July 20.

Bar Group Wants Judgeship Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Undeterred by an apparent lack of interest, the Ohio State Bar Association is waging a renewed campaign in the legislature to eliminate election of judges and set up a "merit selection" process. "Obviously, the elective process has worked well for democracy, but I think we ask too much of our voters when it comes to choosing judges for a state or regional office," said Robert A. Manning, lobbyist for the bar association. "How could the ordinary person in Athens County possibly know the

Railroad Eyes Stops At Dunes

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — The South Shore Railroad, a commuter line linking Chicago with South Bend, has tentatively agreed to make request stops at the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore Park on weekends and holidays this summer. It's all part of an effort by a group of Chicago and Northwest Indiana residents who are promoting use of the railroad for recreational purposes. The proposal for the stop was made to South Shore President Albert W. Dudley by representatives of South Shore Recreation. Dudley told the group the request stop plan could go into effect as early as the July 4 weekend and continue through August.

qualifications of a supreme court candidate from Cleveland or Toledo?" Manning asked. Legislation scheduled for a hearing today in the Senate Judiciary Committee would establish nonpartisan commissions to choose judicial candidates on the basis of qualifications and without regard to political background. The commission would submit candidates to the governor for final selection and appointment. Those named would have to eventually go before the electorate unopposed on a general election ballot and receive at least 55 per cent of the vote. The bar association traces its support of the merit concept back to 1938, when Ohio voters rejected it in a proposed constitutional amendment. A resolution encompassing the latest proposal, sponsored by Sen. Tony P. Hall, D-6 Dayton, would also require statewide voter approval, if passed by the Senate and House. Thus far, it has caused barely a ripple of interest at the Statehouse. Opponents point out that merit selection would take away the right of the voters to pick judges and put it in the hands of nominating commissions and a governor who could be guided by partisan influences, regardless of his party. Who would make up the commissions? "We feel it would be better if lawyers were involved in the selection process," Manning said, "but as a practical matter, commissions made up of totally nonlawyers would be acceptable because we believe this is a better method than the present one. "The commissions would most likely

Mental Health Funds Released

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nearly $10 million in state funds will aid the construction or renovation of community mental health and retardation facilities, Timothy B. Moritz, director of the Ohio Department of Mental Health and Retardation, announced Monday. The 12 counties receiving mental retardation funds are: Cuyahoga, one sheltered workshop and adult activity center, $827,775, and two residential facilities, $502,020; Erie, one residential facility, $72,000; Franklin, 10 residential facilities, $1,153,800; Jefferson, three group homes, $517,500; Licking, one workshop, $72,500; Lucas, one sheltered workshop, $25,000 and two residential facilities, $216,000; Montgomery, one residential facility, $86,250; Portage, one specialized care residential facility, $262,762; Richland, one specialized care residential facility, $1,267,500; Scioto, one residential facility, $48,000; Stark, one residential facility, $875,000; and Summit, two specialized care residential facilities, $276,000.

be made up of ordinary people, plus those who have some idea of what a judge does," he added. Bruce Petrie, chairman of the OSBA modern courts committee, called the state's present nonpartisan judicial election system in which candidates are listed on the ballot without their political party affiliations a "name game." Most voters have little idea of the candidates' qualifications and simply choose one with the most familiar name, Petrie said.

Oil Divestiture Strategy Changed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Advocates of plans to break up giant oil companies, weary of congressional inaction, are trying new strategies to bring the issue to votes in both houses of Congress.

In the House of Representatives, divestiture proponents are mounting a roundabout campaign, hoping to bypass what they see as an unresponsive Judiciary Committee by pleading their case before a more sympathetic Interior Committee.

An interior subcommittee planned to begin hearings today on a bill to require self-divestiture by energy companies that want to bid for federal leases on the Outer Continental Shelf or for other federally held resources.

And senators who want to check the growth of these huge energy conglomerates, which include 10 of the 20 biggest U.S. corporations, are rallying behind legislation that would ban oil companies from owning and developing energy sources other than petroleum.

This is known as "horizontal" divestiture.

Backers claim such an approach has better odds of passage than the more radical surgery of splitting up oil companies into drilling, refining and retailing components — called "vertical" divestiture.

If the legislation, expected to be offered by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., bogs down in committee, supporters may try to take it directly to the floor as an amendment to other energy legislation.

Although admitting that winning approval of any form of divestiture remains an uphill battle, supporters say the odds keep improving.

They point to a greater awareness in Congress of the sprawling nature of the nation's big oil and gas companies. These firms control close to half of all U.S. coal and uranium reserves and have major stakes in oil shale, synthetic fuels and solar and geothermal power.

Also, recent congressional reorganizations have placed in key leadership positions members of Congress who favor divestiture. These lawmakers include Kennedy as chairman of the Senate antitrust subcommittee and Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., chairman of the House Interior Committee.

Checking Accounts May Draw Interest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is backing legislation that would let you earn interest on your checking account, but banks probably will charge a fee for each check you write.

Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal said Monday the proposed legislation "would be a clear benefit for all depositors, large and small."

But he said banks that begin paying interest on checking account funds could be expected to charge fees for each check a customer writes and that would cost depositors who have small bank balances "and the habit of writing a large number of checks."

He conceded that some consumers might opt for conventional checking accounts to avoid high check charges.

Blumenthal made his comments in testimony before a Senate banking subcommittee.

Interest on checking accounts at commercial banks has been forbidden since 1933. In recent years, however, savings institutions in New England began offering as a test, so-called NOW accounts. NOW stands for negotiable orders of withdrawal.

These accounts were legalized experimentally in savings and loan institutions in the six New England states in recent years, and the Carter administration wants to permit interest-bearing checking accounts nationwide in commercial banks.

The proposed banking legislation sets conditions and certain compensatory measures in which the Federal Reserve System would help offset some of the expenses of the NOW accounts by paying interest on deposits that member banks are required to maintain with their central federal reserve bank.

Among the provisions aimed at protecting banks offering the NOW accounts is one that would place a temporary limit on the amount of interest paid. The interest rate would be lower than the regular interest on passbook savings accounts and lower than the 5 per cent paid in the New England experiment.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the subcommittee, argued that providing this kind of protection for member banks of the Federal Reserve System would be too costly. He called it a $600-million bonanza for big banks at the government's expense.

But Blumenthal said the government share of the expense should not be more than $200 million.

Daytime Sedatives On Way Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration intends to ban all over the counter daytime sedatives, it announced today.

FDA commissioner Donald Kennedy said such products as Cope, Compoz, Miles Nervine, Tranquim and Quiet World would be affected.

The FDA commissioner said he knew of no evidence that daytime sedatives lessen anxiety or otherwise provide sedation other than by causing drowsiness.

Users of these products, he said, run the risk of being drowsy during the day when they may be operating automobiles or dangerous machines and need to be alert.

Dr. Kennedy made the announcement during a hearing on sedatives conducted by a Senate Small Business Monopoly subcommittee.

About $7 million a year is made by drug companies from daytime sedatives.

There are roughly 10 major daytime sedatives. Labeling and advertising for the sedatives may contain such terms as "calmative," for the relief of "simple nervous tension" or "sedative."

The first step in removing daytime sedatives from the market will be the publication of a tentative FDA regulation later this year. After that, hearings will be held to gather testimony from the public and industry.

The FDA then plans to publish a final regulation, with a projected time for removing the nonprescription daytime sedatives from the market about mid-1978.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Little Nancy's mother, injured in a bus accident, was left permanently disabled. In due course the bus company was sued not only by the mother but Nancy as well.

"The child," argued her lawyer in court, "has been deprived of the care and companionship of her mother, all because of the negligence of the bus driver. His company ought to pay for her loss of these services."

But the court rejected Nancy's suit, saying that a child has only a moral - not a legal - right to the "services" of a parent. The court noted that the jury, in awarding damages to the mother, would probably add something anyhow for the hardship imposed upon the child.

Generally speaking, the child deprived of a parent's attentions through a third party's negligence cannot collect damages. In fact, most courts take that view even if the harm to the parent-child relationship was inflicted deliberately.

Consider:
A lawsuit was filed on behalf of a small boy against the "other woman" for having induced his father to abandon his family.

"If for no other reason," said the boy's attorney in court, "we want to hold her liable as a warning to other home-wreckers."

But the judge rejected the suit, saying he doubted that a fear of damages would have any deterrent effect. Such philandering, said the judge, "springs from motives that seldom if ever count the cost."

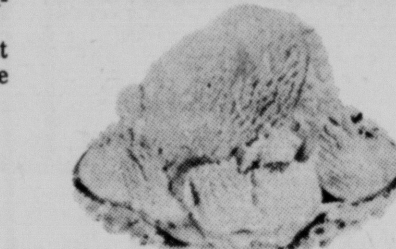

However, in a few of these alienation - of - affections cases, courts have ruled in favor of the deprived child. Thus, two youngsters were awarded damages against a man who had lured away their mother. Said the court:

"Children, the same as parents, have rights as well as duties. Enticement of a mother is a grievous, outrageous, and tragic wrong to her child."

Several County Students Attended Buckeye Girls' State

Campaign slogans, songs and promotions of all types have been the scene at the Ohio American Legion Auxiliary's 31st annual session of Buckeye Girls' State. The Federalists and Nationalist parties have set the campus of Capital University in motion.

Elections and appointments of city, county and state government officials, members of the school boards and judges have been completed.

From the county-wide area, twelve high school girls have returned from the exercise in government, all being appointed or elected to some office in one of the parties. The following are those who attended this year from the area.

Miss Jan Marie Deal, Ashville, was elected city mayor for Storer in Rarey County. She belonged to the Federalist party.

Miss Carol Elaine Winter, 5695 Ashville-Fairfield Road, Ashville, was elected as sheriff. She resided in James City, Halliday County and was a member of the Nationalist party.

Miss Janet Diane Adams, 7910 Winchester Southern Road, Stoutsville, was elected Oakley City School Board Member. She resided in Moore County and was in the Federalist party.

No Flights To Britain?

LONDON (AP) — A cutoff in passenger flights between the United States and Britain appeared increasingly possible today as a year of talks entered their last few hours with no sign of agreement.

An American official said without basic agreement on the key issue of free enterprise in international flights, there is no use extending the deadline of Tuesday midnight Washington time. He reported deep differences still existed after Monday's session.

Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines, the two main American carriers, and the state-owned British Airways told passengers that services between the two countries would continue via points in Canada.

Miss Chris Ann See, 11759 S. R. 56 West, Mt. Sterling, was elected city of Hayes attorney. She was in Halliday County and a member of the Nationalist party.

Miss Natalie Ann Martin, 3765 Bell Station Road, was elected city auditor for Greene. She also was in Halliday County and a Federalist party member.

Miss Phyllis Kay Gay, 217 Scioto St., Ashville, was appointed City Recreation Commissioner for Bickerdike City, Clark County. She belonged to the Federalist party.

Miss Michelle Lee Brust, 7135 Hagerty Road, Ashville, was appointed City Director Health and Safety Police Chief for the city of Brust. She was in Frogley County and in the Nationalist party.

Miss Cheryl Louise Hawkins, 7050 Oadwood Road, was appointed to the office of director of Environmental Protection for the State. She resided in Cary City, Clark County and belonged to the Nationalist party.

Miss Linda Margaret Rhoads, 26372 Morris Salem Road, was appointed Police Chief of Coit City. She was in Frogley County and belonged to the Nationalist party.

Miss Debra Gail Strover, 10429 Darby Creek Road, Orient, was appointed to the office of coordination, division of administration on aging. She resided in Taft City, Rarey County and belonged to the Nationalist party.

Miss Paula Marie Horn, 12576 Park Road, Orient, was appointed Bill Clerk in the house of representatives. She is in Greene City, Halliday county and belonged to the Federalist party.

Miss Alyse Gibran Bergan, 110 Park St., was appointed city firewoman of Sherwood City. She resided in Rarey County and belonged to the Nationalist party.

By practical participation these girls, with 1,300 others, faced the functions and problems of government as well as rights, duties and responsibilities of American Citizenship. Each girl holds an office or position on one of the three government levels actually performing the duties of that office.

As the sessions ended Sunday, more than 29,000 girls have actively participated in the Ohio American Legion Auxiliary's largest project which is designed to educate the citizens of tomorrow in our form of representative government.

MRS. GEORGIA SWEET, 896-2462

The Rev. Linda Stafford conducted morning worship services at the Derby United Methodist Church last Sunday, and the congregation was impressed by her rousing sermon. We welcome her and hope she will enjoy living and working among us. She tells me she has just completed two years as a chaplain at the Columbus State Hospital; she comes well recommended by the Rev. Zellers and others acquainted with her. Greeters were Linda Ridgway and Nancy Smith.

Flowers which beautified the altar were given by Jody Durlinger and Mazie Ridgway in memory of their husband and father, Eldon Ridgway.

The Cherub choir, directed by Sally Graham, sang "Anybody Listenin'?" Linda Ridgway announced on behalf of the Fish Net group that a Rock-a-thon is to be held this Friday night at the Derby Church from 7:30-11 p.m. with proceeds going to help remodel the parsonage. Children participating are invited to sleep over at the church. They then plan to move the Rock-a-thon to the I.G.A. store location in Mt. Sterling, and will continue to rock throughout Saturday morning.

Anyone wishing to sponsor a "rocker" please contact a Fish Net member. Children staying overnight should bring a folding or light weight rocker for easy transporting. Vacation Bible School date is changed and now scheduled to begin the week of June 27 from 9-11 a.m., ages three years through the fifth grade. They are desperately in need of adult assistance. Also any supplies you care to donate are most welcome.

Pack 847 of the Derby area Cub Scouts attended three days of Cub Scout camping sponsored by the Pickaway Paint Creek District June 15-17 at Deer Creek State Park. Cubs attending from Pack 847 were Jay Stewart, Mike McCoy, Tyler Baesman, Boyd Schalnat, Brian Jeffries, Brian Bucek, John Sarosi, Jeff Rawlins, Robbie McNeal, Duane Wickham, Paul Windon, Eric Morrison, Mike France, Rickie Carder, Brian Carder. The scouts enjoyed fishing, hiking, archery, swimming, nature walks, tent pitching, first aid demonstrations, and field sports. Other local packs represented were Mt. Sterling, Washington C.H., Jeffersonville, Circleville, Ashville, Piqua. Our thanks to Pat Higgins, District Executive who organized and directed this very successful even. One hundred twenty five scouts from Madison-Pickaway county area were present. On the sick list: Mrs. Florence Ball is again recovering from surgery in Doctor's West hospital and must remain there for awhile yet. Please send this lady cards, to help the time pass quickly and remember her with prayer.

Edmund Neal is still improving at home from a recent heart attack. Jody Durlinger is very much under the weather at home due to an eye disorder. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Hassell Hunnicutt arrived home Friday night from a three weeks vacation in Florida, and report some very hot weather there.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Spangler attended commencement services in Delaware, Ohio on Sunday June 12 at which their nephew Teddy Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Phillips was among those receiving diplomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Sweet were Saturday evening callers of the Spanglers and granddaughter Shelly.

In answer to recent inquiries, Roger Connell tells me an estimated 200 guests attended the June 12 55th anniversary reception for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brice Connell. This is not counting those who failed to sign the register.

Jeff Higgins, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Higgins of Redondo Beach, California arrived by plane the past weekend and is the summer house guest of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wardell, and cousins Debbie and Mike.

The first U.S. Post Office at Derby was located at the northeast corner of the Derby crossroads on Route 62.

It was around the year 1880 that G. W. Huffman came to Darby Township in Pickaway County and taught school in the area. At that time there was no village of Derby, no Post Office, no B. and O. Railroad, and of course, no grocery.

Mr. Huffman, who had married in the meantime, saw the need for a grocery store and Post Office for settlers here. He proceeded to build a modest four room house at the strategic location on the highway, then went into the grocery business in one small room.

He then made application for a Post Office for Derby. It has been said over the years as the history was handed down from generation to generation, that in writing the application he had intended to call this town Darby after the township but made a mistake in the spelling. When the government permit was received, the name of Derby was given and so it has been to this day.

In a few years the railroad was built, and people saw the need for a village and buildings began appearing near the railroad line. The first industry was a tile mill and brick kiln built by Jerry Hall, and in operation at the rear of the present Pearl Chamberlain residence, for several years until the surrounding swampy area was drained and there was no longer any use for the mill. It ceased to operate and the next business here was a grain elevator built and operated by our first physician, Dr. C. W. Higgins, who also practiced medicine from his home here.

He later sold the elevator to Willis Jones, and he did a growing business for some years till it was again sold. This time, Arthur M. Daugherty was the owner; he was also the Sunday School superintendent at the Derby M.E. Church for many years. Successive owners were the Weidinger Company, Alva Hill, Ivan Hill, who operated it with John Eshelman for awhile, bought out the business, and expanded to include a farm implement business. It was again sold around 1959 to the Farm Bureau Co-op, the Land Mark Company, and finally the Grove City Farmers Exchange.

The original Post Office building was moved from its location on the highway to the town and after being used as a dwelling for several generations of the Phillips family. It was bought in 1942 by Mr. and Mrs. Muri Bruce, and is today the property of Mrs. Bruce. The second Post Office was at the corner of London and Oak Streets in the village proper where it was again operated in connection with the local grocery, first by the Ridgway brothers, Miss Alice Ridgway, all direct descendants of the first pioneers here of that name, Granville Garrison, E. T. Neff, and finally Harry and Agnes Matthaes who operated the store and Post Office for over thirty years.

A new Post Office building was erected on the opposite corner of Oak and London in the forties and remained under the Matthaes' ownership. The old building stood empty for some years till finally razed, and all that marks that spot today is a vacant lot and an old town pump.

Once again failing health interfered and Mrs. Mazie Ridgway was our post mistress for several years. Then the Matthaes closed the store. The Post Office was relocated to its present site and under yet another post master, William "Brad" Spradlin who still holds that position.

The only other grocery in town was owned and operated by George Neff for many years. His health failed, and caused him to sell the business. It was run by Nell Higgins, son of Dr. C. W. Higgins, and in the twenties Warren and Nellie Bauhn bought it and did a thriving business till Mr. Bauhan passed away during the fifties. Mrs. Bauhan tried for several years to carry on alone, as it was the only store for miles. It was finally sold to a succession of owners - Charles Hicks, Kilpenny, Pritchards, Wisecups, and now Don Smith is the owner and has a furniture store there.

With the Southwest Community Church of the Nazarene: Boy's summer camp is in progress this week, and girl's camp is planned for June 27-July 1. This includes ages 9-11. Senior High camp will be held in August, ages 15-19.

Summer Bible School at the Southwest Community Church is being planned for the week of August 15-19.

A father and son camp-out will take place on Saturday, July 9.

Continued KSU Death Suit Heard

CINCINNATI (AP) — The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals must decide between two widely divergent arguments in determining any liability on the part of the governor and the National Guard in the 1970 shooting deaths of four students at Kent State University.

"I have never seen a case where the briefs of the two parties are so far apart," commented Judge George Edwards during Tuesday's hour-long hearing. "You'd almost think there were two different happenings, on two different days, in two different places."

Attorneys for the relatives of those who were killed or wounded said that there had been a "holiday atmosphere" by students who gathered on the campus on May 4, 1970, prior to the confrontation with National Guard troops.

Sanford Rosen argued that the events of the three days preceding the event should not have been enough to issue an absolute ban against demonstrations.

He also claimed there was no evidence to justify the use of force employed by the National Guard.

"This event was highly photographed," Rosen said. "They all show there could be no reasonable belief that the guardsmen would suffer death."

Attorneys for the Gov. James A. Rhodes and National Guard asserted in their brief to the court that the troops were in danger.

Seniors Visit Ohio Village

Twenty-two members of the Pickaway Senior Citizens toured Ohio Village June 16, reminiscing of their own home towns of long ago.

They visited the town hall, the print shop, the general store, the gunshop, blacksmith shop and many other interesting shops and stores. The group ate lunch at the American House Hotel, typical of many smalltown inns of the 1800s.

The afternoon was spent shopping at the French Market by:

Bessie Huffer, Geneva Davis, Ray Beery, Jennie Hoffman, Ann Smith, Agnes Ragland, Elizabeth Bachman, Minnie Strawser, Nancy Brown, Gertrude Rodgers, Eunice Shy, Luella Lape, Bessie Radcliffe, Dorothy Gregory, John Robinson, Julia Lemon and Wanda Hamilton.

America salutes the Tree Farmer.

Today, some 32,500 individuals have qualified for participation in the Tree Farm Program. And they rate a salute, for these are the landowners who actively manage their woodlands in the public interest.

It's not just a matter of planting trees, or having 10 acres or more of woodland. Tree Farmers actively manage their forests - growing and harvesting repeated crops of trees; protecting the land from fire, insects, disease and destructive grazing. They provide watershed protection, better food and habitat for wildlife, and opportunities for outdoor recreation. And it is the Tree Farmer who will make possible the lumber, wood fiber, and other natural resources America needs for tomorrow's growth.

If you have 10 acres or more of woodland, why not send for information on this valuable program? Tree Farms pay off for their owners and our country.

Haldeman Starts Sentence Wednesday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Harry Robbins Haldeman has an appointment with the U.S. government. Five years and five days after the Watergate break-in, he dons prison grays and starts serving time for his part in the Watergate coverup.

"I go to prison on the 22nd," was Haldeman's terse reply when asked to comment recently on his upcoming incarceration. Speaking was the matter-of-fact, self-assured Haldeman of the days when he was President Richard Nixon's top staff man — literally the country's second in command.

Haldeman was convicted on New Year's Day 1975, along with John Ehrlichman and John Mitchell, of conspiracy to obstruct justice, of obstructing justice and of lying under oath. Each was sentenced to 2 1/2-to-8-year terms.

Bluffton Officials Pay Hike Illegal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The $5,125 in raises given three officials of the Village of Bluffton in Allen County during their terms must be repaid to the village treasury, the state auditor has said.

The mayor, a clerk and the late treasurer all received raises while in office, which violates an Ohio law forbidding salaries of any elected officer to be increased or diminished during the term of office.

On Wednesday Haldeman begins a 2 1/2-to-8-year sentence at the Lompoc Federal Correctional Facility, a minimum security institution some 200 miles northwest of here.

Mitchell, the former attorney general, reports Wednesday to a federal prison on a military base in Alabama. Ehrlichman began serving his time last year at a federal prison camp in Arizona.

Life at Lompoc will be a stark contrast to Haldeman's current lifestyle.

Haldeman lives well. He has a tidy pension that his 20 years at J. Walter Thompson advertising agency earned him.

A New York Times-owned publishing house, Quadrangle, has bought the book he is writing about Watergate, paying Haldeman an advance which a Quadrangle editor called "a substantial, generous amount, more than we usually pay an author."

Haldeman has bought a $250,000 Tudor-style home in the Hancock Park area, an island of affluence among the tacky Hollywood flats.

In the evenings, he walks his huge African ridgeback dog along the sycamore-lined street, always ready with warm smiles and friendly words for neighbors. They see him as a maligned hero, an honest, brilliant man blessed with "the most wonderful children in the world" and cursed with malevolent political enemies.

Ike's Letters To Mamie Published

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dwight Eisenhower never planned to divorce his wife, Mamie, and at one point told her not to worry "your pretty head" over rumors that he was having an affair with his secretary, their wartime correspondence shows.

The letters from the former president to his wife were released to the Los Angeles Times by the Eisenhower family in reaction to an ABC television screenplay being produced in part from a book by Lt. Kay Summersby, "Past Forgetting: My Love Affair with Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Rain May Bring Delay To Farmers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here is the agriculture weather advisory for Ohio provided by the National Weather Service:

Warmer and more humid conditions will begin to form today. Some showers are expected to develop in the west and southwest this afternoon and then continue and spread across the state tonight and Thursday. A chance of showers is indicated each day through Sunday as very warm and humid conditions persist.

Field Operations — Scattered showers will delay field operations by Thursday across many areas of the state. Some western and southwestern sections may be interrupted this afternoon by showers. Delays will be generally short for each occurrence, but showers are expected to threaten at times the rest of the week.

Haying — Hay on the ground should be harvested today if possible due to the risk of wetting by Thursday. Southwest area may even have some wetting this afternoon. Higher humidities will be slow drying the rest of the week and a period of three days or longer will be required for field drying of hay. The risk of wetting is expected to continue through Sunday. So cutting may have to be delayed until next week.

Harvesting — Today will be a good wheat harvest day across the state. Thursday through Sunday may offer some periods of weather acceptable for the harvest of wheat that is very dry, but moisture reduction of wheat with high moisture content will be less than 0.5 per cent each day when precipitation does not occur. An increase in the moisture content is likely sometime through Sunday due to showers.

Forecast

OHIO

Considerable cloudiness tonight and Thursday with shower or thundershowers likely southwest and a chance of thundershowers elsewhere. Lows tonight mid 50s northeast to mid 60s extreme south. Highs Thursday 75 to 80.

NORTHWEST

SOUTHEAST

Considerable cloudiness with a chance of thundershowers tonight and Thursday. Lows tonight in the upper 50s and low 60s. Highs Thursday in the upper 70s. Probability of rain 40 per cent tonight and 50 per cent Thursday.

WEST CENTRAL

SOUTHWEST

Considerable cloudiness through Thursday with showers or thundershowers likely tonight and Thursday. Lows tonight in the low to mid 60s. High Thursday near 80. Probability of rain 60 per cent tonight and Thursday.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thundershowers were expected to spread into southwest Ohio ahead of a warm front today and over the rest of the state by Wednesday afternoon.

A high pressure area over eastern Ohio this morning should move southeast to the Virginia coast by tonight. The warm front, which extends from Kansas to western Tennessee, will push slowly north through the lower Ohio Valley during the next couple of days.

Today's highs were to be in the upper 70s and low 80s and about the same tomorrow. Periods of showers are likely for the remainder of the week, with a gradual rise in temperatures reaching the upper 80s and low 90s by Sunday.

Temperatures dropped into the mid 40s under clear skies in northeastern Ohio overnight. But in contrast, skies were cloudy this morning in the southwestern counties and readings were in the low and mid 60s.

Jackie Gleason Has Face Lifted

MIAMI (AP) — Jackie Gleason's doctor says the rotund comedian has had his face lifted because his "eyelids drooped so he couldn't read the scripts."

"The operations weren't cosmetic; they were more reconstructive," said Dr. Bernard Halperin. "He needed the operation for his career."

He said Gleason underwent two plastic surgery operations over a 4½-hour period Tuesday at Jackson Memorial Hospital. The comedian was said to be in good condition, but full recuperation could take months.

New York's Carnegie Hall was inaugurated in 1891.

The screenplay is to be aired in several months, the Times said today.

Lt. Summersby, a member of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, was Eisenhower's driver and secretary in Europe and North Africa during World War II.

She wrote her book about the alleged affair in 1976 and died of cancer shortly afterward.

The Times reported, however, that the Eisenhower letters cast doubt on the accuracy of the Summersby book and on a story, attributed to former President Harry Truman, that the general planned to divorce his wife and marry Kay Summersby.

Truman's account of the alleged divorce plans were printed in a recent book by Merle Miller, "Plain Speaking: An Oral History of Harry S. Truman."

In his letters, Eisenhower repeatedly refers to his wife as "My Darling" and "my sweetheart."

"This eve I just wanted to say you're the greatest gal in the world. I'll never be in love with anyone but you," the General wrote to his wife from Algiers on Feb. 20, 1943.

Five days later, he wrote again from Algiers: "I love you — don't go bothering your pretty head about WACs, etc., etc."

The 319 Eisenhower letters are scheduled to be published next year by Doubleday under the title, "Letters to Mamie."

In a preface to that book, the couple's son, Brig. Gen. John S.D. Eisenhower of Valley Forge, Pa., writes:

"The allegation in Merle Miller's 'Plain Speaking' that Gen. Eisenhower wrote a somehow 'lost' letter to Gen. (George C.) Marshall (the Army chief of staff) telling of intentions to divorce his wife is exposed by these letters, to my mind at least, to be the egregious falsehood that it was. There is no evidence that divorce ever seriously crossed Dad's mind, even in the loneliest moments across the Atlantic."

The decision to make the Eisenhowers' wartime letters available to the Times was made by John Eisenhower as executor of his father's estate, with approval of other family members, the newspaper said.

Mamie Eisenhower, 80, now lives on the family farm in Gettysburg, Pa. She was distressed by the upcoming screenplay based on Lt. Summersby's book, the Times said.

'DISC-STAR' IN CONSTELLATION CYGNUS

This is an artist's concept of a "disc-star" discovered in the constellation Cygnus by a University of Arizona-NASA Ames Research Center team. If superimposed on the solar system, the scientists say the white hot disc would engulf the earth. They also said the disc-star is believed to be forming planets. The disc is 20 times as wide as it is thick and the disc emits 20 times as much light as the star in its center.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The names of nine persons suspected of welfare fraud have been turned over to the Stark County Prosecutor by state Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson as part of a statewide investigation begun last December.

Approximately $16,448 in welfare funds has been misused in Stark County, which is the 87th of 88 Ohio counties investigated by computer cross-checking, Ferguson said.

Statewide, 304 persons in 28 counties are suspected of illegally receiving $884,319 in welfare payments.

The nine suspects were narrowed down from a list of 148 names that were found by computers to be both a contributor to the state retirement fund and a recipient of Aid to Dependent Children.

Appeals Court Eyes Pollution Battle

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federal appeals court is pondering whether the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has the power to stop the Ford Motor Co. from dumping wastes into Lake Erie after the State of Michigan gave the firm permission.

"Dilution is not the solution to pollution," argued Patrick Molloy, an EPA lawyer.

Ford lawyers argued that an EPA veto of Ford's permit from the state coerced the state to back down, preventing Ford from proving the worth of its plan and denying the automaker its right to challenge EPA in court.

A three-judge panel in the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals took the case under advisement after questioning EPA's right to veto state acts.

Both sides reported that Ford and Michigan officials are currently reviewing the situation and near agreement on a new plan.

Ford originally won approval of a plan to increase its dumping of metals from its Monroe, Mich., bumper plating plant, south of Detroit, into the Raisin River, which runs into Lake Erie. The plan calls for the plant to pump thousands of gallons of water out of the lake, dilute the effluent and then release it into the river and eventually the lake.

The EPA, according to Molloy, vetoed the plan because the company would be ultimately dumping larger amounts of zinc, copper, chromium and nickel into Lake Erie "contrary to the government's treaty with Canada." He said both nations pledged to stop pollution of the international waterway.

Molloy said it was the first time the EPA had vetoed a Michigan permit because the agency reviews only "major" pollution permits.

Molloy said the EPA demands that Ford install equipment which will remove the metals before dumping.

Edward Dunkelberger, Ford attorney, argued that Ford would actually reduce the rate of metal discharges and conform to federal standards for the Raisin River. He contended the EPA acted arbitrarily and in violation of the intent of Congress in the Water Pollution Control Act.

"They do not have the authority," Dunkelberger said.

Molloy said the case should be dismissed since Ford and Michigan are now involved in another approach.

Dr. McCarty To Open Office Here

DR. RICHARD MCCARTHY

Dr. Richard N. McCarty is opening an office for the practice of family medicine, obstetrics and sports medicine at 401 E. Main St. beginning July 11. Advance appointments may be made by phoning 477-1444.

Dr. McCarty received his medical degree from Michigan State University School of Osteopathic Medicine, East Lansing, Mich. Upon graduation Dr. McCarty was presented the Upjohn Achievement Award for excellence in his field of Family Medicine. He was the recipient of the Damm-Wahlin Award for highest scholastic achievement.

Before entering the medical profession, Dr. McCarty received a B.S. degree from the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Indiana and a Ph. D. degree from Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana in Organic Chemistry.

In his field of chemistry, Dr. McCarty worked for Dow-Corning Corporation in Midland, Mich. where he was involved in medicinal research being most active in artificial heart research. He is the author of some 37 patents and publications. Dr. McCarty also was an associate editor at Chemical Abstracts Services in Columbus.

Dr. McCarty was a member of the faculty of Michigan State University for the duration of his medical training, both in the Honors College as well as the Osteopathic Medical School. He presently holds a dual faculty appointment as an Associate Clinical Professor of the Osteopathic Medical Schools of Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan and Ohio University, Athens. These appointments will not interfere with Dr. McCarty's daily medical office hours however, they provide him with the opportunity to continue in the education of medical students particularly interested in a Family Medicine practice.

Dr. McCarty is married and has four children, Steve, Susan, Anne, and Kevin presently enrolled in the Upper Arlington School System.

House Committee Rejects Meditation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With one legislator citing the Bill of Rights as a guidepost, a House committee has rejected a bill that would have required a moment of silence in public schools for prayer or meditation.

Rep. James S. Zehner, D-63 Yellow Springs, said Tuesday night when the U.S. Constitution proclaimed "Congress shall make no law, I think they meant no law." Zehner referred to the First Amendment barring any law "respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

The freshman lawmaker said the bill before the committee implied "that the state has legal entry into sacred and private areas of a person's mind."

Zehner said the measure took on the "aspect of fingerprinting" and could run afoul of the principle of separation of church and state.

The House Education Committee subsequently voted 8-4 not to favorably recommend the bill's passage. It had suffered a damaging setback prior to Zehner's remarks when the sponsor, Rep. Dale Locker, D-80 Anna, withdrew support due to the addition of a key amendment.

Ironically, the amendment, offered by committee Chairman Robert J. Boggs, D-97 Jefferson, was intended to save the measure.

Instead of requiring teachers to "provide a period of silence not to exceed one minute" for prayer or meditation at the beginning of a school day, Boggs wanted to put the onus on local school boards.

Guard Gets State Honor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Robert R. "Andy" Anderson, a cigar chomping guard at the Ohio Statehouse for a quarter century, had never been inside the Senate chamber—before Tuesday.

Senators had him escorted there to receive a congratulatory resolution for his service to them on the 25th anniversary of his employment.

Anderson watches the Senate parking lot.

He regards as significant that in all those years he "never lost a car," although as one senator put it, "there have been a few fender benders that weren't Andy's fault."

Anderson's wife and family were included in the ceremonies during which the resolution, sponsored by Sen. Robert E. O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus, thanked him for keeping the Senate parking lot "completely free from theft."

Porno Plan Big Put-On

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland City Council President George Forbes says he was only kidding when he announced two weeks ago that a committee holding hearings on an obscenity ordinance would hear from strippers and see them perform.

"I deliberately put the town on and I enjoyed it," Forbes said Tuesday as the finance and legislation committees began to hear testimony on the obscenity ordinance.

Forbes, a city Democratic leader, and Republican Mayor Ralph Perk have been sniping at each other recently over the mayor's war on pornography. The mayor's campaign includes the distribution of obscenity questionnaires to every Cleveland household.

The obscenity ordinance, which is sponsored by Perk, would outlaw public display of human sex organs in movies and other media.

At Monday's committee hearing, lawyer Bernard A. Berkman said, "I think this ordinance is absolutely unconstitutional...Obscenity and sex are not synonymous."

But Bruce Taylor, assistant city law director, said, "If all nudity is banned, it makes it easier for us (to prosecute pornographers)."

The committee took no action on the measure.

Appeals Court Eyes Pollution Battle

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federal appeals court is pondering whether the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has the power to stop the Ford Motor Co. from dumping wastes into Lake Erie after the State of Michigan gave the firm permission.

"Dilution is not the solution to pollution," argued Patrick Molloy, an EPA lawyer.

Ford lawyers argued that an EPA veto of Ford's permit from the state coerced the state to back down, preventing Ford from proving the worth of its plan and denying the automaker its right to challenge EPA in court.

A three-judge panel in the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals took the case under advisement after questioning EPA's right to veto state acts.

Both sides reported that Ford and Michigan officials are currently reviewing the situation and near agreement on a new plan.

Ford originally won approval of a plan to increase its dumping of metals from its Monroe, Mich., bumper plating plant, south of Detroit, into the Raisin River, which runs into Lake Erie. The plan calls for the plant to pump thousands of gallons of water out of the lake, dilute the effluent and then release it into the river and eventually the lake.

The EPA, according to Molloy, vetoed the plan because the company would be ultimately dumping larger amounts of zinc, copper, chromium and nickel into Lake Erie "contrary to the government's treaty with Canada." He said both nations pledged to stop pollution of the international waterway.

Molloy said it was the first time the EPA had vetoed a Michigan permit because the agency reviews only "major" pollution permits.

Molloy said the EPA demands that Ford install equipment which will remove the metals before dumping.

Edward Dunkelberger, Ford attorney, argued that Ford would actually reduce the rate of metal discharges and conform to federal standards for the Raisin River. He contended the EPA acted arbitrarily and in violation of the intent of Congress in the Water Pollution Control Act.

"They do not have the authority," Dunkelberger said.

Molloy said the case should be dismissed since Ford and Michigan are now involved in another approach.

Dr. McCarty To Open Office Here

DR. RICHARD MCCARTHY

Dr. Richard N. McCarty is opening an office for the practice of family medicine, obstetrics and sports medicine at 401 E. Main St. beginning July 11. Advance appointments may be made by phoning 477-1444.

Dr. McCarty received his medical degree from Michigan State University School of Osteopathic Medicine, East Lansing, Mich. Upon graduation Dr. McCarty was presented the Upjohn Achievement Award for excellence in his field of Family Medicine. He was the recipient of the Damm-Wahlin Award for highest scholastic achievement.

Before entering the medical profession, Dr. McCarty received a B.S. degree from the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Indiana and a Ph. D. degree from Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana in Organic Chemistry.

In his field of chemistry, Dr. McCarty worked for Dow-Corning Corporation in Midland, Mich. where he was involved in medicinal research being most active in artificial heart research. He is the author of some 37 patents and publications. Dr. McCarty also was an associate editor at Chemical Abstracts Services in Columbus.

Dr. McCarty was a member of the faculty of Michigan State University for the duration of his medical training, both in the Honors College as well as the Osteopathic Medical School. He presently holds a dual faculty appointment as an Associate Clinical Professor of the Osteopathic Medical Schools of Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan and Ohio University, Athens. These appointments will not interfere with Dr. McCarty's daily medical office hours however, they provide him with the opportunity to continue in the education of medical students particularly interested in a Family Medicine practice.

Dr. McCarty is married and has four children, Steve, Susan, Anne, and Kevin presently enrolled in the Upper Arlington School System.

That would have softened the opposition of the Ohio Education Association, which feared the bill would put teachers in a delicate position.

The Boggs amendment said local education boards "shall adopt whatever rules are necessary" to provide the moment of silence.

Locker said this left too much leeway for Ohio's 617 local districts and could invite a court test under the U.S. Supreme Court ruling against mandatory school prayer.

Ashville 4th Art Show Rules Set

Stan Fritts Ready For Grid Season

CINCINNATI (AP) — The future for Cincinnati Bengals veteran pass blocker and driving fullback Stan Fritts may depend on how well his knee holds up.

He underwent surgery as a sophomore at North Carolina State in 1972 and then was operated on again in February 1976.

Because his condition has been unpredictable, Fritts has often had to sit on the sidelines. Last year, he managed 200 yards in 47 tries and three touchdowns.

Two years ago, as a rookie, he carried twice as much and scored 10 times.

Fritts believes he will come to training camp this year in 100 per cent condition. He vows that his knee won't swell up like it did last year at this time.

"I want to become a football player again," said Fritts, in a telephone interview from his home in Oak Ridge,

Tenn., near Knoxville, "one that doesn't have anything wrong holding him back. If not here, then somewhere else."

At the Bengals request, Fritts was examined a week ago by orthopedic surgeon Donald O'Donoghue in Oklahoma City.

"He explained that the patella (kneecap) was a little loose and there's still some scraping inside," Fritts said. "But that happens to every knee following surgery. There's no cartilage left."

"The doctor just said he was pretty pleased with it and that he couldn't see any reason why I couldn't play this year and play effectively."

Bengals backfield coach Jack Donaldson witnessed the suffering Fritts experienced last season—both from the pain caused by the knee and that caused by not playing.

"He didn't like it," Donaldson said, "but he was well aware that a lot of the time he couldn't do more."

Connors Gets Word From Fans

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The game of tennis has been revolutionized in the 100 years since the Wimbledon championships were first played, but the middle-class sensibilities of the English men and women who come to Wimbledon each summer remain the same.

The Jimmy Connors incident which marred the start of this century Wimbledon proves the point.

He snubbed the championship committee and the royal family by failing to show up at Monday's opening day Parade of Champions, although he was 200 yards away at the time practicing with Ilie Nastase.

The incident overshadowed the appearance of more than 40 other all-time greats in the parade and made front page news in the British press. In retaliation, Wimbledon authorities denied Connors the commemorative medal presented to all other past champions by the Duke of Kent.

And when the 24-year-old American, ranked No. 1 in the world, appeared on the center court Tuesday for his opening match, he was greeted by boos and catcalls which veteran commentators said were unprecedented.

For Connors had violated the "game's the thing" ethics which still dominate the British sport scene and are basic to Wimbledon's traditions.

That is why behavior like Connors' on Monday shocks Wimbledon. The whole show is about tradition, decorum and style.

Stan Fritts Ready For Grid Season

CINCINNATI (AP) — The future for Cincinnati Bengals veteran pass blocker and driving fullback Stan Fritts may depend on how well his knee holds up.

He underwent surgery as a sophomore at North Carolina State in 1972 and then was operated on again in February 1976.

Because his condition has been unpredictable, Fritts has often had to sit on the sidelines. Last year, he managed 200 yards in 47 tries and three touchdowns.

Two years ago, as a rookie, he carried twice as much and scored 10 times.

Fritts believes he will come to training camp this year in 100 per cent condition. He vows that his knee won't swell up like it did last year at this time.

"I want to become a football player again," said Fritts, in a telephone interview from his home in Oak Ridge,

Tenn., near Knoxville, "one that doesn't have anything wrong holding him back. If not here, then somewhere else."

At the Bengals request, Fritts was examined a week ago by orthopedic surgeon Donald O'Donoghue in Oklahoma City.

"He explained that the patella (kneecap) was a little loose and there's still some scraping inside," Fritts said. "But that happens to every knee following surgery. There's no cartilage left."

"The doctor just said he was pretty pleased with it and that he couldn't see any reason why I couldn't play this year and play effectively."

Bengals backfield coach Jack Donaldson witnessed the suffering Fritts experienced last season—both from the pain caused by the knee and that caused by not playing.

"He didn't like it," Donaldson said, "but he was well aware that a lot of the time he couldn't do more."

Trapshoot Action Starts

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — Preliminary action in the 91st annual Ohio State Trapshooting Tournament begins today, with the official events scheduled for Thursday through Sunday.

Last year, 6,961 shooters took part in the competition, well below the record years of 7,654 in 1973 and 7,560 in 1975.

"Last year," Ron Peters, tournament director, explained, "the Ohio and Pennsylvania shoots were held the same week, and both were hurt. But the Pennsylvania shoot was held a week ago so that should mean a bigger field here."

"This is still the second biggest trapshoot in the world," he said.

The biggest is the Grand American Tournament, which will come to the same grounds in mid-August.

Officials said shooting Thursday starts with the 200-target, 16-yard Class Day singles, followed by the 100-target President's handicap. Friday the preliminary doubles and handicap are scheduled.

Danny Rose of Canton will defend his Ohio State singles championship, a 200-target event, on Saturday.

The tournament ends Sunday with the doubles championship and the Ohio Handicap, which was won a year ago by Donovan Hochsteller of Millersburg.

Helwagen Cards 33 At Pickaway CC

Bruce Helwagen shot a 33 to record the low gross score in the Pickaway Country Club Men's Golf League Tuesday. Jim Stoneburner carded low net with a 26.

Team B won the most points. Members of the team are: Jeff Bohenko, Don McDill, John Johnson, Bill Thornton, J. S. Arnold, Dallas Elliott, Frank Estes and Jim Stoneburner.

Members are asked to purchase their tickets now for the 4th of July ox roast for members and guests. Tickets are available at the pro shop and clubhouse.

The playing field at Yankee Stadium in New York covers three-and-one-half acres.

Connors Gets Word From Fans

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The game of tennis has been revolutionized in the 100 years since the Wimbledon championships were first played, but the middle-class sensibilities of the English men and women who come to Wimbledon each summer remain the same.

The Jimmy Connors incident which marred the start of this centenary Wimbledon proves the point.

He snubbed the championship committee and the royal family by failing to show up at Monday's opening day Parade of Champions, although he was 200 yards away at the time practicing with Ilie Nastase.

The incident overshadowed the appearance of more than 40 other all-time greats in the parade and made front page news in the British press. In retaliation, Wimbledon authorities denied Connors the commemorative medal presented to all other past champions by the Duke of Kent.

And when the 24-year-old American, ranked No. 1 in the world, appeared on the center court Tuesday for his opening math, he was greeted by boos and catcalls which veteran commentators said were unprecedented.

For Connors had violated the "game's the thing" ethics which still dominate the British sport scene and are basic to Wimbledon's traditions.

That is why behavior like Connors' on Monday shocks Wimbledon. The whole show is about tradition, decorum and style.

Columbus Losing Owls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Al Savill, owner of the Columbus Owls of the International Hockey League, said Tuesday night he definitely has decided that the team will not play in Columbus next season.

He said he will inform the IHL at its annual meeting next week that the club will either play in some other city or not at all.

Savill cited the rundown condition of the fairground Coliseum and poor attendance as the reasons for his decision. He blamed the lack of attendance on the poor facilities and indifference of local leaders about having a professional hockey franchise.

Savill said the team might play next season in one of two unnamed cities which he said have been trying to land a franchise.

Set Registration For Pee-Wee Football

Pee-Wee Football registration is set for this Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Circleville Police Station.

Anyone wishing to participate must be eight years old before September 1, 1977, and no older than 12 before September 1, 1977.

All persons registering must be accompanied by a parent or guardian and have a birth certificate.

Borchers Posts Top Golf Score

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Tournament medalist Bill Borchers of Sunbury continued to shoot solid golf in the MidAmerica Junior Open Tuesday, beating Eddie Beach of Coshocton in match play, 4 and 2.

The 17-year-old Borchers, who shot a tourney record four under par 66 in qualifying, was two under when the match ended after 18 holes.

Meanwhile, defending champion Darryl Spelich of Warren was a first-round casualty Tuesday, losing to Gregg Matthus of Uhrichsville 4 and 3.

Some other winners in the Championship Flight included Len Kellerman of Solon, brother of former Cleveland Browns defensive back Ernie Kellerman; Jeff Goettman of Springfield, Jim Bryan of Greensburg, Pa., and Chuck Gioffre of Huron.

Bass Tournament Set By Sportsmen

The Pickaway Farmers and Sportsmen Assn. will hold its third bass tournament of 1977 at Wellston Lake, Wellston, Sunday.

All entries will register at the boat ramp there. The fishing period will be from 7 a.m. until 1 p.m. Wendell See is tournament chairman.

Hockey Merger Set

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Harry Howell, acting general manager of the Cleveland Barons, said Tuesday "a good source" has forecast the National Hockey League and World Hockey Association will merge this week.

"I would say right now that there is a possibility of a merger as early as this week," said Howell. "At first I thought there would be no way, because of the problems and technicalities involved, but I understand a package has been put together."

Howell said the package would admit six WHA teams to the present 18-team NHL, and there then would be realignment of the 24 teams geographically.

The NHL Board of Governors was scheduled to begin three days of meetings today in Chicago. The possible merger and realignment was expected to get high priority, with any merger expected to include Quebec, Edmonton, New England and Cincinnati of the WHA. Other WHA teams under consideration are Houston, Winnipeg and, possibly, Indianapolis.

Sheri Boyle with three, Angela Hix with three, Katrina Thompson had four including two homeruns, Lisa Shephard had four, Sally Cox had four including two homers, Lori Fletcher had four, Tonya Thompson had two, Lisa Adams had four, Kathy Scanlon had five, and Deanna Wolfe had one.

Terri Ballou had three hits for Pickaway, Tonya Lively had two, Shelby Little had two, Tammy Lively, Rita Kamler, and Marla Carroll all had two, and Sheri Spires, Cami Peters, and Erin Harden all had one each.

Reds Pound Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some pretty famous names came up in the Cincinnati Reds' clubhouse when the subject of George Foster arose in conversation.

"When he gets his arm extended and then whips the bat, he reminds me of Hank Aaron," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson.

Second baseman Joe Morgan put Foster in a class with Willie Mays and Babe Ruth.

The reason was Foster's 19th home run of the year, a three-run shot off the right-centerfield scoreboard that helped lead the Reds to a 10-5 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night. The teams tangle again tonight in the final game of the three-game Reds' visit here.

Foster said the blast "is an indication that I can hit to all fields with power. That keeps the pitchers honest. It makes sure the pitchers can't pitch me one way."

Those words weren't often heard from Foster last season, according to Morgan.

"George has always belittled himself as a home run hitter, which I thought was one of his downfalls," observed the star second baseman.

"Now I think he's gotten to the point where he says he can hit as many as the other guys. That's the big difference in him now as opposed to last year. Last year I think he was still kind of feeling his way."

That's all behind Foster and the Reds. "We have our work cut out for us," he said, noting that second-place Cincinnati trails the Los Angeles Dodgers by 7½ games in the National League's West Division. "We have got to go out and play our best because we have a lot of catching up to do."

They did what they could Tuesday night, picking up a full game on Los Angeles when the Dodgers dropped a 4-3 decision to St. Louis in 10 innings.

"I think he (Foster) is getting to the point of knowing he can hit the ball out whenever he gets ready," continued Morgan. "There's no better feeling in the world than that for a home run hitter."

"I'm sure that guys like Mays and, of course, Babe Ruth, all had that feeling. To be a home run hitter, I think you have to have that."

Foster currently leads the league in home runs.

The Reds started on rookie Philadelphia left-hander Randy Lerch in the first inning, scoring a run on a double by Ken Griffey and Foster's

Waits, Tribe Win 4-0

TORONTO (AP) — Cleveland pitcher Rick Waits carried a perfect record into his game against the Toronto Blue Jays, but he was taking nothing for granted.

"I had to prove something to myself tonight," Waits said Tuesday night after tossing a four-hit shutout for 62-3 innings as the Indians blanked Toronto Blue Jays, 4-0.

"Tonight was important for me because I had a bad start last time out," said the 25-year-old right-hander, who now boasts a 4-0 record.

It was only the second start of the season for the Atlanta native who gave way to Don Hood in the seventh after issuing two-out walks to Dave McKay and Steve Bowling. Hood got the final out of the inning and combined with Jim Kern to blank Toronto on two hits the rest of the way.

"My three other wins came in relief when I came in with the team behind. I had to prove I hadn't lost my ability to be a starter," said Waits.

"I've always been a starter until this year, when they tried to make me into a reliever," he added.

The victory was the Indians' fourth in as many games under new Manager Jeff Torborg and their sixth in a row overall.

The loss was the Blue Jays' eighth in 10 starts.

"I'm tickled to death for Waits," said Torborg. "That's the longest he's gone all season and he just ran out of gas. I could tell by the look on his face that he was drained."

Cleveland got the only run it needed in the second after loading the bases on a single and a pair of walks. Ron Pruitt then bounced into a double play, scoring Andre Thornton from third.

The Indians added their second run in the fifth on a two-out single by Paul Dade, a passed ball and Jim Norris's double. Rico Carty's two-out double in the seventh brought Dade home with Cleveland's third run and spelled the end for Toronto starter Jerry Garvin, 7-5.

You can't fire 25 baseball players, so you fire the manager. But you can bench players, and that's what Manager Billy Martin, who was nearly fired Monday, intends to do today in an effort to shake up his slumping New

Luis Tiant fired Boston's second consecutive two-hitter and Jim Rice and George Scott homered as the Red Sox trounced Baltimore 7-0 Tuesday night for their fifth consecutive triumph and opened a 4½-game lead in the American League East over the Orioles and the Yankees, who were beaten 5-2 by the Detroit Tigers.

Elsewhere, the Minnesota Twins trimmed Texas 9-5 in what may have been Lucchesi's final game as manager, the Chicago White Sox edged the California Angels 3-2, the Kansas City Royals slugged the Seattle Mariners 13-3, the Cleveland Indians blanked the Toronto Blue Jays 4-0 and the Milwaukee Brewers clobbered the Oakland A's 12-1.

GAFSTAR Citation
Sheet Vinyl Flooring with Brite-Bond™ surface

High style — High gloss — Low maintenance. And that's not all! The GAFSTAR Citation™ collection offers a thick Sorstep™ vinyl foam backing and Quiet-Cor™ foam interlayer that combine to make this the warmest, softest, quietest and most comfortable sheet vinyl floor you've ever set foot upon.

The bold distinctive patterns are a decorator's dream. In some settings they appear to be charmingly traditional. Add more contemporary accessories and these floors take on a dramatic modern look. And the Citation collection is so much more than just beautiful. The through and through quality construction starts on the surface with a Brite-Bond™ high gloss finish that keeps its sunshiny gleam, resists scuffs and stains and requires a minimum of care. Soil stays on the surface where it can be vacuumed up or wiped away. In time heavy traffic areas may show a reduction of surface gloss. A thin application of GAF Brite-Bond™ Floor Finish only in those areas restores the desired shine. See the GAF Maintenance Brochure for complete instructions.

Rogers, Expos Top Astros, 6-0

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

Montreal right-hander Steve Rogers has noticed a change in Expos fans.

"The people are fired up for baseball here now," said Rogers after blanking Houston 6-0 at Olympic Stadium for his third shutout of the season. "We have the new stadium and a good attitude. It's really exciting now. I was glad to give them something to cheer about. It felt good."

It also must feel good to lead the National League in four pitching categories, as Rogers does. The 27-year-old right-hander, 9-5 this season after a 7-17 record in 1976, tops the NL with 99 strikeouts; 18 starts, 10 complete games and 136 2-3 innings pitched.

Mickey Stanley and Tito Fuentes smashed two-run homers while Jim Crawford shacked New York with seven strong relief innings as the Tigers handed the Yankees their fifth consecutive setback. Martin then announced that centerfielder Mickey Rivers, right fielder Reggie Jackson and first baseman Chris Chambliss would sit out tonight's game, giving way, respectively, to Paul Blair, Jim Wynn and Cliff Johnson.

Meanwhile, Minnesota scored five runs on seven hits in the fifth inning in wiping out a 3-1 deficit and beating Texas despite two homers by the losers' John Ellis and one by Toby Harrah. Rod Carew's single tied the score and Butch Wynegar greeted Mike Marshall with a tie-breaking two-run single.

Gary Carter aided Rogers with a 4-for-4 performance at the plate.

"I've never had four hits in a nine-inning game before," said Carter, who has a 7-for-7 streak going.

In other National League contests, Cincinnati belted Philadelphia 10-5, New York defeated Atlanta 5-2, Pittsburgh mauled San Diego 9-2, the Cubs eased past San Francisco 8-2 and St. Louis edged Los Angeles 4-3 in 10 innings.

Reds 10, Phillies 5

George Foster's 19th homer of the season, a three-run blast, was the key blow in the Reds' romp.

Foster, who is tied with Boston's George Scott for the major league home run lead, sent a Warren Brusstar pitch over the right-centerfield wall.

Pitcher Paul Moskau, appearing in his first major league game, homered for the Reds but was not involved in the decision. Reliever Pedro Borbon, 4-3, was the winner.

Mets 5, Braves 2, 11 innings

Rookie outfielder Steve Henderson, who came to the Mets in the Tom Seaver deal last week, hit his first major league homer in the 11th inning to give the Mets their victory.

New York tied the game in the ninth inning when Ed Kranepool hit a home run off Andy Messersmith. Willie Montanez' two-run homer in the first accounted for the Braves' runs.

Pirates 9, Padres 2

John Candelaria fired a five-hitter and retired 22 consecutive Padres batters during one stretch in the Pirates' victory. Phil Garner drove in three runs, two on a double in the eighth.

Pittsburgh second baseman Rennie Stennett extended his hitting streak to 19 games while Dave Kingman, acquired from the Mets last week, slugged his first homer for San Diego and his 10th of the year.

Cubs 8, Giants 2

The Cubs increased their NL West lead to 6 1-2 games with their triumph over San Francisco. Steve Swisher's two-run double keyed a five-run Chicago second inning and Bill they managed to bunch two of their three hits after three walks in the second inning. Ralph Garr delivered a two-run single after Ryan walked the bases full and Alan Bannister singled home what turned out to be the winning run. That was the third and last hit off Ryan.

Royals 13, Mariners 3

Tom Poquette, Hal McRae and George Brett unloaded three hits apiece and combined for eight runs batted in and six runs scored, leading a 16-hit Kansas City attack. Al Cowens singled and cracked a two-run homer, while Frank White and Fred Patek also collected two hits apiece.

Indians 4, Blue Jays 0

Unbeaten Rick Waits pitched 6 2-3 innings for his fourth victory as Cleveland ran its winning streak to six games, including four in a row under new Manager Jeff Torborg. Don Hood and Jim Kern finished up.

Brewers 12, A's 1

Jim Wohlford's two-run single capped Milwaukee's three-run third inning and Von Joshua singled home two more in a club record eight-run fourth. The Brewers sent 13 batters to the plate in their big inning, which also included RBI hits by Charlie Moore, Don Money and Cecil Cooper. Jim Slaton scattered five hits for the Brewers.

AMAZING LISA — Lisa Thomas, 13, hits a double into left field during a Little League game at Indianapolis, Ind. Her coach says she's the best player he's got. Lisa was right handed until she lost a hand in a freak accident eight years ago. She now uses her left hand with a mechanical hand and plays so well that her handicap is rarely noticed.

Stanky, who formerly managed the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago White Sox and has been the coach at the University of South Alabama for a number of years, was expected in Minnesota today to sign with the Rangers.

"I guess everybody in the country knows it but me," said Lucchesi. "The thing I can't understand is why no one from the club has been in contact with me."

Red Sox 7, Orioles 0

The homers by Rice and Scott enabled Boston to equal the major league record of 24 homers in seven games by the Cleveland Indians of 1962 and the New York Giants of 1954. They narrowly missed breaking the record when Denny Doyle doubled off the right field wall during a four-run ninth-inning.

Reds Pound Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some pretty famous names came up in the Cincinnati Reds' clubhouse when the subject of George Foster arose in conversation.

"When he gets his arm extended and then whips the bat, he reminds me of Hank Aaron," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson.

Second baseman Joe Morgan put Foster in a class with Willie Mays and Babe Ruth.

The reason was Foster's 19th home run of the year, a three-run shot off the right-centerfield scoreboard that helped lead the Reds to a 10-5 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night. The teams tangled again tonight in the final game of the three-game Reds' visit here.

Foster said the blast "is an indication that I can hit to all fields with power. That keeps the pitchers honest. It makes sure the pitchers can't pitch me one way."

Those words weren't often heard from Foster last season, according to Morgan.

"George has always belittled himself as a home run hitter, which I thought was one of his downfalls," observed the star second baseman. "Now I think he's gotten to the point where he says he can hit as many as the other guys. That's the big difference in him now as opposed to last year. Last year I think he was still kind of feeling his way."

That's all behind Foster and the Reds. "We have our work cut out for us," he said, noting that second-place Cincinnati trails the Los Angeles Dodgers by 7½ games in the National League's West Division. "We have got to go out and play our best because we have a lot of catching up to do."

They did what they could Tuesday night, picking up a full game on Los Angeles when the Dodgers dropped a 4-3 decision to St. Louis in 10 innings.

"I think he (Foster) is getting to the point of knowing he can hit the ball out whenever he gets ready," continued Morgan. "There's no better feeling in the world than that for a home run hitter."

"I'm sure that guys like Mays and, of course, Babe Ruth, all had that feeling. To be a home run hitter, I think you have to have that."

Foster currently leads the league in home runs.

The Reds started on rookie Philadelphia left-hander Randy Lerch in the first inning, scoring a run on a double by Ken Griffey and Foster's single. Johnny Bench slammed a two-run homer in the third and rookie pitcher Paul Moskau, in his first major league game, hit a solo homer in the fourth.

Moskau's homer boosted it to 4-2, but Ted Sizemore singled in a run and another scored on a sacrifice fly for a 4-4 deadlock after four.

The Reds scored three in the fifth. In the sixth, Griffey, who extended his hitting streak through 12 games, opened with a single. Morgan walked and Foster socked his three-run homer to take over the league lead. That made it 10-4.

Moskau lasted only 42-3 innings and was relieved by Pedro Borbon, who finished and earned his fourth win in seven decisions.

Waits, Tribe Win 4-0

TORONTO (AP) — Cleveland pitcher Rick Waits carried a perfect record into his game against the Toronto Blue Jays, but he was taking nothing for granted.

"I had to prove something to myself tonight," Waits said Tuesday night after tossing a four-hit shutout for 62-3 innings as the Indians blanked Toronto Blue Jays, 4-0.

"Tonight was important for me because I had a bad start last time out," said the 25-year-old right-hander, who now boasts a 4-0 record.

It was only the second start of the season for the Atlanta native who gave way to Don Hood in the seventh after issuing two-out walks to Dave McKay and Steve Bowling. Hood got the final out of the inning and combined with Jim Kern to blank Toronto on two hits the rest of the way.

"My three other wins came in relief when I came in with the team behind. I had to prove I hadn't lost my ability to be a starter," said Waits.

"I've always been a starter until this year, when they tried to make me into a reliever," he added.

The victory was the Indians' fourth in as many games under new Manager Jeff Torborg and their sixth in a row overall.

The loss was the Blue Jays' eighth in 10 starts.

"I'm tickled to death for Waits," said Torborg. "That's the longest he's gone all season and he just ran out of gas. I could tell by the look on his face that he was drained."

Cleveland got the only run it needed in the second after loading the bases on a single and a pair of walks. Ron Pruitt then bounced into a double play, scoring Andre Thornton from third.

The Indians added their second run in the fifth on a two-out single by Paul Dade, a passed ball and Jim Norris's double. Rico Carty's two-out double in the seventh brought Dade home with Cleveland's third run and spelled the end for Toronto starter Jerry Garvin, 7-5.

Tiant, Bosox Trounce Baltimore, 7-0

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

AP Sports Writer

You can't fire 25 baseball players, so you fire the manager. But you can bench players, and that's what Manager Billy Martin, who was nearly fired Monday, intends to do today in an effort to shake up his slumping New York Yankees.

The Texas Rangers, on the other hand, reportedly were set to fire Manager Frank Lucchesi and replace him with Eddie Stanky.

Meanwhile, the Boston Red Sox roll merrily along, slamming home runs in record fashion and pitching shutouts.

Luis Tiant fired Boston's second consecutive two-hitter and Jim Rice and George Scott homered as the Red Sox trounced Baltimore 7-0 Tuesday night for their fifth consecutive triumph and opened a 4½-game lead in the American League East over the Orioles and the Yankees, who were beaten 5-2 by the Detroit Tigers.

Elsewhere, the Minnesota Twins trimmed Texas 9-5 in what may have been Lucchesi's final game as manager, the Chicago White Sox edged the California Angels 3-2, the Kansas City Royals slugged the Seattle Mariners 13-3, the Cleveland Indians blanked the Toronto Blue Jays 4-0 and the Milwaukee Brewers clobbered the Oakland A's 12-1.

Mickey Stanley and Tito Fuentes smashed two-run homers while Jim Crawford shacked New York with seven strong relief innings as the Tigers handed the Yankees their fifth consecutive setback. Martin then announced that centerfielder Mickey Rivers, right fielder Reggie Jackson and first baseman Chris Chambliss would sit out tonight's game, giving way, respectively, to Paul Blair, Jim Wynn and Cliff Johnson.

Meanwhile, Minnesota scored five runs on seven hits in the fifth inning in wiping out a 3-1 deficit and beating Texas despite two homers by the losers' John Ellis and one by Toby Harrah. Rod Carew's single tied the score and Butch Wynegar greeted Mike Marshall with a tie-breaking two-run single.

Stanky, who formerly managed the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago White Sox and has been the coach at the University of South Alabama for a number of years, was expected in Minnesota today to sign with the Rangers.

"I guess everybody in the country knows it but me," said Lucchesi. "The thing I can't understand is why no one from the club has been in contact with me."

Rogers, Expos Top Astros, 6-0

By BARRY WILNER

AP Sports Writer

Montreal right-hander Steve Rogers has noticed a change in Expos fans.

"The people are fired up for baseball here now," said Rogers after blanking Houston 6-0 at Olympic Stadium for his third shutout of the season. "We have the new stadium and a good attitude. It's really exciting now. I was glad to give them something to cheer about. It felt good."

It also must feel good to lead the National League in four pitching categories, as Rogers does. The 27-year-old righthander, 9-5 this season after a 7-17 record in 1976, tops the NL with 99 strikeouts, 18 starts, 10 complete games and 136 2-3 innings pitched.

Gary Carter aided Rogers with a 4-for-4 performance at the plate.

"I've never had four hits in a nine-inning game before," said Carter, who has a 7-for-7 streak going.

In other National League contests, Cincinnati belted Philadelphia 10-5, New York defeated Atlanta 5-2, Pittsburgh mauled San Diego 9-2, the Cubs eased past San Francisco 8-2 and St. Louis edged Los Angeles 4-3 in 10 innings.

Reds 10, Phillies 5

George Foster's 19th homer of the season, a three-run blast, was the key blow in the Reds' romp.

Foster, who is tied with Boston's George Scott for the major league home run lead, sent a Warren Brusstar pitch over the right-centerfield wall.

Pitcher Paul Moskau, appearing in his first major league game, homered for the Reds but was not involved in the decision. Reliever Pedro Borbon, 4-3, was the winner.

Mets 5, Braves 2, 11 innings

Rookie outfielder Steve Henderson, who came to the Mets in the Tom Seaver deal last week, hit his first major league homer in the 11th inning to give the Mets their victory.

New York tied the game in the ninth inning when Ed Kranepool hit a home run off Andy Messersmith. Willie Montanez' two-run homer in the first accounted for the Braves' runs.

Pirates 9, Padres 2

John Candelaria fired a five-hitter and retired 22 consecutive Padres batters during one stretch in the Pirates' victory. Phil Garner drove in three runs, two on a double in the eighth.

Pittsburgh second baseman Rennie Stennett extended his hitting streak to 19 games while Dave Kingman, acquired from the Mets last week, slugged his first homer for San Diego and his 10th of the year.

Sheet Vinyl Flooring with Brite-Bond™ surface

High style... High gloss... Low maintenance... And that's not all! The GAFSTAR Citation™ collection offers a thick Softstep™ vinyl foam backing and Quiet-Cor™ foam interlayer that combine to make this the warmest, softest, quietest and most comfortable sheet vinyl floor you've ever set foot upon.

The bold distinctive patterns are a decorator's dream. In some settings they appear to be charmingly traditional. Add more contemporary accessories and these floors take on a dramatic modern look. And the Citation collection is so much more than just beautiful. The thorough and quality construction starts on the surface with a Brite-Bond™ high gloss finish that keeps its sunshiny gleam, resists scuffs and stains and requires a minimum of care. Soil stays on the surface where it can be vacuumed up or wiped away. In time heavy traffic areas may show a reduction of surface gloss. A thin application of GAF Brite-Bond™ Floor Finish only in those areas restores the desired shine. See the GAF Maintenance Brochure for complete instructions.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Good aspects. Late afternoon could bring unexpectedly gratifying support from superiors and associates — which should boost your morale considerably.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): What you feel is a certainty could be mere wishful thinking. Better take a second look and change plans if necessary.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Curb impulsiveness and make no hasty decisions. Stellar influences are favorable, but the slow-and-steady worker will accomplish most.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You cannot only make the grade, but add some new zest to your routine. Shape your endeavors to meet demands and you should have a profitable day.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Some planetary restrictions. Watch for irritating situations and bridge them amicably and with unbiased opinion. Move briskly into productive areas.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Avoid confusion through proper preplanning. Weigh well the pros and cons when you must render a decision. The wrong one could backfire.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Shun breakneck speed, but neither delay nor be tardy in action. Both extremes, and others, must be curbed. Group interests, partnerships favored.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Put past doubts, disappointments behind you; they only put limits on future success. Stress your versatility; you could now add the "twist" that boosts projects to success.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23): This may not be a spectacular day, but it offers some gains and much pleasure. Start with the will to make it better than ever and you will be happy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20): Analyses, conjectures, decisions must be given plenty of time in order to prevent errors. Be alert.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): It may not be easy to appreciate all suggestions and directives but, with all your strength and self-confidence, back those you know to be timely and well thought-out.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A good spot for your intuitive forces, your ingenuity, alertness and inventiveness. Do use them for sound purposes.

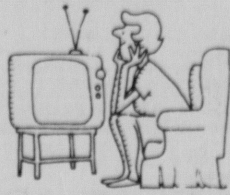

YOU BORN TODAY are a combination of the tenacious and the persuasive, the affectionate and the obstinate; are hard-working and practical, but also genial and sociable. You lack confidence in yourself at times, however, and are inclined to worry. Once you shed fears and doubts, you can forge ahead with unusual success. You are innately reserved and dignified but, on the other hand, are always ready to discard the ordinary bounds and limitations of prescribed codes and make your own — may be downright unconventional, in fact. Fields in which you could especially excel: medicine, teaching, writing, acting, business. Birthdate: Edward, Duke of Windsor; Irwin S. Cobb, author.

NEW YORK (AP) — Paramount Pictures recently announced that it would film "The Bad News Bears In Breaking Training," the second in a series initiated by its 1976 production, "The Bad News Bears." The picture should be ready for a July release.

Also scheduled for release during 1977 is the comedy-drama "Citizens Band," starring Paul Le Mat, Candy Clark, Ann Wedgeworth and Marcia Rodd. Shot on location in northern California, "Citizens Band" deals with the CB radio phenomenon and its effects on people's lives.

Paramount also announced that Gene Roddenberry, creator of the science fiction television series "Star Trek," would begin work on a film version of his futuristic classic. "Star Trek" is scheduled to start production in the late fall.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Korty, the Emmy-winning director of CBS' "Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman," does things a bit differently. For starters, his office is near San Francisco, not in Hollywood.

And in a boom era for half-hour situation comedies, with 27 set for next fall on the networks, a sitcom idea of his called "The Transport of Delight" may wind up on public TV in several years.

It's being pitched by station KQED in San Francisco to officials at the Corporation for Public Broadcasting as a candidate for partial underwriting for a pilot show that could lead to a series, KQED says.

"Transport" is about young folks of differing races who form a moving and trucking company, and advertise in foreign-language and underground newspapers, a station spokeswoman says.

"Well, I guess it's because I'm a little crazy," Korty said when asked why he didn't take his wares to NBC, CBS or ABC. "I had the idea for three years ... but I didn't want to do a commercial series."

He said he only wanted to do 13 episodes a year. But if his series was on a network and clicked, he feared the network would demand the usual 24 or so episodes annually, leaving him no time for other projects.

His comedy idea sat idle until an old friend, Chloe Aaron, a Public Broadcasting Service program executive, mentioned a need for comedy on public TV, "so I decided to try it," he said.

Should CPB tell "Transport" to start trucking, he says, he won't take it to Hollywood. He'll tape the series on location around the City by the Bay, avoid the conventional studio and audience therein.

"And I want to use, as much as possible, Bay-area writers, actors and directors," he added in a phone interview from his office in Mill Valley, just north of San Francisco.

"There are a lot of good people up here who find it very hard to crack the Hollywood scene. And yet they're very talented and know what they're doing."

Korty, 40, a transplanted New Yorker born in Lafayette, Ind., is among the small, but growing, colony of San Francisco film folk who've cracked the Hollywood scene with spectacular success.

Others who call the Bay area home include Francis Coppola of "Godfather" fame; George Lucas, director-writer of the hit "Star Wars," and Lee Mendelson, who makes those "Charlie Brown" specials for TV.

Korty says he never wanted to live in Hollywood — a state of mind extending from Dreamland to the Cuckoo's Nest — even though it's said to survive here you must constantly see and be seen here.

The director-writer says he doesn't hate Hollywood, just prefers life in San Francisco. He once even "had one agent give up on me because he said I was never around" in Hollywood.

"I find now there's a kind of reverse prestige," he mused. "I've heard people saying, for a specific project, 'Well, maybe we would get a San Francisco actor.'"

Count Mihaly Karolyi (1875-1955) was the first president of the Republic of Hungary.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Good aspects. Late afternoon could bring unexpectedly gratifying support from superiors and associates — which should boost your morale considerably.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): What you feel is a certainty could be mere wishful thinking. Better take a second look and change plans if necessary.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Curb impulsiveness and make no hasty decisions. Stellar influences are favorable, but the slow-and-steady worker will accomplish most.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You cannot only make the grade, but add some new zest to your routine. Shape your endeavors to meet demands and you should have a profitable day.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Some planetary restrictions. Watch for irritating situations and bridge them amicably and with unbiased opinion. Move briskly into productive areas.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Avoid confusion through proper preplanning. Weigh well the pros and cons when you must render a decision. The wrong one could backfire.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Shun breakneck speed, but neither delay nor be tardy in action. Both extremes, and others, must be curbed. Group interests, partnerships favored.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Put past doubts, disappointments behind you; they only put limits on future success. Stress your versatility; you could now add the "twist" that boosts projects to success.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): This may not be a spectacular day, but it offers some gains and much pleasure. Start with the will to make it better than ever and you will be happy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Analyses, conjectures, decisions must be given plenty of time in order to prevent errors. Be alert.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): It may not be easy to appreciate all suggestions and directives but, with all your strength and self-confidence, back those you know to be timely and well thought-out.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A good spot for your intuitive forces, your ingenuity, alertness and inventiveness. Do use them for sound purposes.

YOU BORN TODAY are a combination of the tenacious and the persuasive, the affectionate and the obstinate; are hard-working and practical, but also genial and sociable. ON ITS TOP — Pickaway County Deputies Jim Fite and R. L. Phillips investigated an 8:20 a.m. Tuesday accident on Walnut Creek Pike north of St. Paul Road. Linda E. Kelley, 29, Columbus, driver of the car, suffered minor lacerations and a passenger, Eric

Kelley, 9, Columbus, was treated for multiple contusions and abrasions. Ms. Kelley told the officers that she was driving north when a southbound car drove left of center in a curve and forced her off the road.

PARK PROGRAM — The Pickaway County Family YMCA has scheduled Park Playground Programs for the summer at Ted Lewis Park and Smith Memorial Park. On June 21 and 23 the Y will be representing field day by participating in many different activities, including wheel barrow races, sack races, and duck races; baton relays, softball throw, and tug-of-war, to mention a few. Three new staff members will coordinate the program. Tonia Carroll, 17, is a native of Winchester, Ohio and will enroll in Circleville Bible College this fall. Pattie Rhodes, 18, is a graduate of Logan Elm High School and will study art illustration at Wilmington College. Lowell Hunter is in his second year of studies at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, and is majoring in business.

'Big Enchilada' Heads For Prison

By HARRY R. ROTHENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
The "Big Enchilada," John N. Mitchell, has an appointment today to surrender as a prisoner of the federal corrections system he once ran as attorney general. He is the 25th man to be sent to jail for Watergate crimes and probably the last.

Mitchell waited until the last minute today to begin his 2½ to 8 year sentence for his part in the Watergate cover-up, unlike H.R. Haldeman, who showed up a day early carrying his belongings in a half-full grocery bag.

Their imprisonment — Mitchell at Maxwell Air Force Base in Alabama and Haldeman at Lumpoc in California — effectively closes the book on the Watergate scandal that began with a botched burglary five years and five days ago.

Entering the minimum security institution at Lumpoc on Tuesday, Haldeman made a brief statement:

"There's only one thing I do want to say and that is to express my great appreciation for the expressions of support I've received from so many people around the country and most especially to express my gratitude to my family for their love, their courage and their understanding."

Inside, Haldeman was photographed, fingerprinted and dressed in a gray uniform before being shown to his new home — a six-by-eight foot cubicle in a dormitory that houses 30 men.

As the new prisoners were being indoctrinated into prison routine, the last of the men convicted in the 1972 break-in at Democratic party headquarters neared release through the intervention of President Carter. When G. Gordon Liddy is freed, only the three men convicted in the cover-up aftermath — Mitchell, Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman — will be in prison.

Their crime, as determined by a jury that convicted them after three months of trial, was conspiracy to obstruct justice, obstruction of justice, and multiple counts of lying under oath.

Mitchell, 63, was law partner, friend, adviser and manager of Richard M. Nixon's two successful presidential campaigns. Haldeman, 50, was chief of staff, the no-nonsense autocrat with the power to decide who could see the president and who could not.

Together with Ehrlichman, the domestic adviser, they were the iron men of the Nixon administration, the friends he could count on to do his bidding without question.

Helpy-Selfy Has Suds With Duds

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The Helpy-Selfy has gone topless but nobody's accusing it of putting on a dirty show.

The laundromat that brought you beer and wine so you could "have some suds while you do your duds" added dancing girls last month to bring in more customers and offset the cost of operating washing machines.

"As far as the girls go, it's just beginning," mused owner Jim Fuller. "There is no way to estimate the possibilities."

Georgia is sometimes called the "Empire State of the South."

trend has been to create a state police."

But Rep. Waldo Bennet Rose, R-64 Lima, said the restraint on the patrol would "endanger people in local communities" by limiting the state's ability to deal with prison riots or other criminal activities on state property.

"Without general revenue fund money, the highway patrol cannot set foot on our penal institutions," he said.

At the same time, Rep. Robert A. Taft 11, R-65 Cincinnati, said a tight Bureau of Motor Vehicles budget would eliminate the state's computer hookup with local law enforcement agencies.

The Law Enforcement Agency Data System (LEADS) is used to transmit up to 185,000 pieces of information daily on arrests and driving records, Rose said.

GOP-sponsored amendments to

Radiation Deaths Listed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The pathologist who participated in autopsies of 60 cancer patients who received radiation overdoses during treatment at a hospital here says the investigations show 10 of the victims died as a direct result of that error.

Dr. Robert E. Zipf Jr., deputy coroner and forensic pathologist for Franklin County, made his assessments of the autopsies public during a joint meeting Monday of the International Association of Coroners and Medical Examiners and the Ohio State Coroners Association in Columbus.

Zipf also is a member of the Riverside Hospital staff where the overdoses were discovered in February 1976, but had been occurring since March the year before.

He said the 60 autopsies also showed that 50 of the victims died of cancer and that 10 of those persons also showed complications from the overdose.

During the period when the overdoses went undiscovered, Zipf said 400 cancer patients at the hospital had received treatments carrying 10 to 40 per cent higher than prescribed radiation.

His statements were the first officially made by the hospital since the situation was discovered more than a year ago. The overdoses were the result of improper calibration of the machine used in the treatments.

Tourists To Get 'Luxury Arrests'

WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — North-bound American tourists traveling along Highway 75 between the U.S. border and Winnipeg soon may be subject to "arrests" and sentenced to a night in a luxury hotel, dinner and a tour of the city.

Winnipeg police and the Jaycees are co-operating in the plan to stop cars with U.S. license plates, starting next month.

If the occupants of a car that is stopped plan to spend a few days in Winnipeg, they will be treated to some of the city's tourist attractions.

One carload of tourists will be so treated each week.

restore money to the highway patrol and BMV were defeated in party line voting.

Democrats registered some other complaints about the patrol, also.

Tablack said 900 patrol cars were maintained, although no more than 174 troopers were employed on each of three regular shifts.

And Rep. Robert W. Jaskulski, D-11 Garfield Heights, said 147 troopers were tied up for 13 days each summer for security purposes at the Ohio State Fair at a cost of $500,000, including considerable overtime. Twenty-seven patrolmen are used as parking lot attendants at the fairgrounds, Jaskulski said.

As approved, the bill containing the total highway safety appropriation was $156.8 million, an 11.7 per cent increase over present spending.

The transportation budget in the same bill, described favorably by Rose as the "result of bipartisan hard work," totaled $1.38 billion, including $950 million for construction and maintenance of highways.

House Finance Chairman Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, the sponsor, said "all planned operations and projected construction projects have been fully funded, according to the Department of Transportation."

In addition, the state's main budget for other agencies carries $25 million for local government to attract federal funds for urban mass transit.

Due to the transportation department's unique funding, less than $1 million of its budget was drawn from the state's major account, the general revenue fund. Most of the money will be taken from highway use taxes and gasoline taxes.

ON ITS TOP — Pickaway County Deputies Jim Fite and R. L. Phillips investigated an 8:20 a.m. Tuesday accident on Walnut Creek Pike north of St. Paul Road. Linda E. Kelley, 29, Columbus, driver of the car, suffered minor lacerations and a passenger, Eric

Kelley, 9, Columbus, was treated for multiple contusions and abrasions. Ms. Kelley told the officers that she was driving north when a southbound car drove left of center in a curve and forced her off the road.

PARK PROGRAM — The Pickaway County Family YMCA has scheduled Park Playground Programs for the summer at Ted Lewis Park and Smith Memorial Park. On June 21 and 23 the Y will be representing field day by participating in many different activities, including wheel barrow races, sack races, and duck races; baton relays, softball throw, and tug-of-war, to mention a few. Three new staff members will coordinate the program. Tonia Carroll, 17, is a native of Winchester, Ohio and will enroll in Circleville Bible College this fall. Pattie Rhodes, 18, is a graduate of Logan Elm High School and will study art illustration at Wilmington College. Lowell Hunter is in his second year of studies at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, and is majoring in business.

'Big Enchilada' Heads For Prison

By HARRY R. ROTHENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
The "Big Enchilada," John N. Mitchell, has an appointment today to surrender as a prisoner of the federal corrections system he once ran as attorney general. He is the 25th man to be sent to jail for Watergate crimes and probably the last.

Mitchell waited until the last minute today to begin his 2½ to 8 year sentence for his part in the Watergate cover-up, unlike H.R. Haldeman, who showed up a day early carrying his belongings in a half-full grocery bag.

Their imprisonment — Mitchell at Maxwell Air Force Base in Alabama and Haldeman at Lompoc in California — effectively closes the book on the Watergate scandal that began with a botched burglary five years and five days ago.

Entering the minimum security institution at Lompoc on Tuesday, Haldeman made a brief statement:

"There's only one thing I do want to say and that is to express my great appreciation for the expressions of support I've received from so many people around the country and most especially to express my gratitude to my family for their love, their courage and their understanding."

Inside, Haldeman was photographed, fingerprinted and dressed in a gray uniform before being shown to his new home — a six-by-eight foot cubicle in a dormitory that houses 30 men.

As the new prisoners were being indoctrinated into prison routine, the last of the men convicted in the 1972 break-in at Democratic party headquarters neared release through the intervention of President Carter. When G. Gordon Liddy is freed, only the three men convicted in the cover-up aftermath — Mitchell, Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman — will be in prison.

Their crime, as determined by a jury that convicted them after three months of trial, was conspiracy to obstruct justice, obstruction of justice, and multiple counts of lying under oath.

Mitchell, 63, was law partner, friend, adviser and manager of Richard M. Nixon's two successful presidential campaigns. Haldeman, 50, was chief of staff, the no-nonsense autocrat with the power to decide who could see the president and who could not.

Together with Ehrlichman, the domestic adviser, they were the iron men of the Nixon administration, the friends he could count on to do his bidding without question.

Helpy-Selfy Has Suds With Duds

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The Helpy-Selfy has gone topsless but nobody's accusing it of putting on a dirty show.

The laundromat that brought you beer and wine so you could "have some suds while you do your duds" added dancing girls last month to bring in more customers and offset the cost of operating washing machines.

"As far as the girls go, it's just beginning," mused owner Jim Fuller. "There is no way to estimate the possibilities."

House Vote Curbs . . .

But Rep. Waldo Bennet Rose, R-64 Lima, said the restraint on the patrol would "endanger people in local communities" by limiting the state's ability to deal with prison riots or other criminal activities on state property.

"Without general revenue fund money, the highway patrol cannot set foot on our penal institutions," he said. At the same time, Rep. Robert A. Taft 11, R-65 Cincinnati, said a tight Bureau of Motor Vehicles budget would eliminate the state's computer hookup with local law enforcement agencies.

The Law Enforcement Agency Data System (LEADS) is used to transmit up to 185,000 pieces of information daily on arrests and driving records, Rose said.

GOP-sponsored amendments to restore money to the highway patrol and BMV were defeated in party line voting.

Democrats registered some other complaints about the patrol, also.

Tablack said 900 patrol cars were maintained, although no more than 174 troopers were employed on each of three regular shifts.

And Rep. Robert W. Jaskulski, D-11 Garfield Heights, said 147 troopers were tied up for 13 days each summer for security purposes at the Ohio State Fair at a cost of $500,000, including considerable overtime. Twenty-seven patrolmen are used as parking lot attendants at the fairgrounds, Jaskulski said.

As approved, the bill containing the total highway safety appropriation was $156.8 million, an 11.7 per cent increase over present spending.

The transportation budget in the same bill, described favorably by Rose as the "result of bipartisan hard work," totaled $1.38 billion, including $950 million for construction and maintenance of highways.

House Finance Chairman Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bournville, the sponsor, said "all planned operations and projected construction projects have been fully funded, according to the Department of Transportation."

In addition, the state's main budget for other agencies carries $25 million for local government to attract federal funds for urban mass transit.

Due to the transportation department's unique funding, less than $1 million of its budget was drawn from the state's major account, the general revenue fund. Most of the money will be taken from highway use taxes and gasoline taxes.

Radiation Deaths Listed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The pathologist who participated in autopsies of 60 cancer patients who received radiation overdoses during treatment at a hospital here says the investigations show 10 of the victims died as a direct result of that error.

Dr. Robert E. Zipf Jr., deputy coroner and forensic pathologist for Franklin County, made his assessments of the autopsies public during a joint meeting Monday of the International Association of Coroners and Medical Examiners and the Ohio State Coroners Association in Columbus.

Zipf also is a member of the Riverside Hospital staff where the overdoses were discovered in February 1976, but had been occurring since March the year before.

He said the 60 autopsies also showed that 50 of the victims died of cancer and that 10 of those persons also showed complications from the overdose.

During the period when the overdoses went undiscovered, Zipf said 400 cancer patients at the hospital had received treatments carrying 10 to 40 per cent higher than prescribed radiation.

His statements were the first officially made by the hospital since the situation was discovered more than a year ago. The overdoses were the result of improper calibration of the machine used in the treatments.

Tourists To Get 'Luxury Arrests'

WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — North-bound American tourists traveling along Highway 75 between the U.S. border and Winnipeg soon may be subject to "arrests" and sentenced to a night in a luxury hotel, dinner and a tour of the city.

Winnipeg police and the Jaycees are co-operating in the plan to stop cars with U.S. license plates, starting next month.

If the occupants of a car that is stopped plan to spend a few days in Winnipeg, they will be treated to some of the city's tourist attractions.

One carload of tourists will be so treated each week.
